YANKS FIGHT TO BREAK RED TRAP

Truman, Attlee Say No Appeasement

Britain Will Stand By U.S., Minister Says

Two Leaders Agree To Defense Speedup

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — President Truman told Prime Minister Attlee today, according to informed officials, that the United States is determined not to withdraw its forces willingly or voluntarily from Korea in the face of the Red Chinese onslaught.

The British prime minister, for his part, made plain that British troops will fight alongside Americans as long as the Korean war lasts. In a speech at the National Press Club, Attlee said:

"You may be certain that, in fair weather or foul, where the Stars and Stripes fly in Korea, the British flag will fly beside them."

The two declarations, taken together, indicated that U. N. forces will fight on as long as possible unless some settlement is reached. Still left unanswered, of course, was the great question whether the U. N. forces would be able to hold out and avoid a forced withdrawal.

Will Speed Defense Buildup

Meanwhile the President and Prime Minister served notice on the Communist world that the Western Powers will move urgently and "with energy" in building up Atlantic defenses against Soviet aggression.

A White House communique announced that the President and the British leader have reached "full agreement" on that phase of the world crisis.

It was the first real pronouncement of the three-day-old talks that began Monday when Attlee flew to Washington to confer with Mr. Truman on the grave turn of events arising from the intervention of a 1,000,000-man Chinese Communist army in Korea.

Behind the formal words of the communique, diplomatic experts read a determination to seek to bind together the all-out strength—manpower, material and weapons — of the 12 North Atlantic treaty nations.

It underscored the British view—shared by many officials here—that the number 1 concern must be with Europe as the prime center of defense against Soviet Communism. These officials hold that the Western Powers must avoid, if at all possible, tying up their main military strength in any all-out war with China.

No "Appeasement"

However, in his speech before the National Press Club, Attlee rejected any "appeasement" of Red China and pledged that his country will fight beside the United States in Korea "in fair or foul weather."

Officials said President Truman is also bent against appeasement as a solution of the Korean crisis. They said Mr. Truman firmly believes that if there are any negotiations to settle the Korean warfare, they must be limited to Korea and Korea alone.

They said, for example, the United States government would turn down any suggestion to buy off the Chinese Communist regime by giving them access to Formosa or surrendering Indochina to Red conquest.

Acting Press Secretary Stephen T. Early told newsmen the two chiefs of state will probably meet again tomorrow — and possibly several more times — before Attlee's departure on Friday.

De Tassigny Named

PARIS, Thursday, Dec. 7 (AP) — France today named Gen. Jean De Lattre De Tassigny, one of her top generals, as high commissioner in Indochina. He was given "full military and civil powers" to direct the war against the Communist-led Vietminh.

Planes Dropped From Pacific Lift Recalled To Duty

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Air Force disclosed today that 29 commercial airliners, dropped from the Pacific airlift in September, have been recalled to duty to handle the increased needs for Korea.

Officials discounted any idea that the planes might be used for evacuation of troops from Korea, although Rep. Hinshaw (R-Calif) told the House of Representatives:

"It is understanding that we may have to send our entire four-engine fleet (of commercial airliners) to Korea in the event we have to stage another Dunkerque."

Hinshaw declined to elaborate to reporters on this remark, which was made during debate on airline subsidy legislation.

France To Call Meeting To Plan European Army

Agrees To Include West German Troops

PARIS, Thursday, Dec. 7 (AP)—France announced last night she will call a meeting of the Western European nations in Paris next month to draw up plans for a European army.

The announcement was made by Information Minister Albert Gazier, who confirmed that France had agreed to immediate formation of West German combat teams in Atlantic nation forces which would defend Europe against Communist aggression.

Previously the French had insisted on creation of a unified European defense ministry before using German troops. They had also, up to now, insisted on the pooling of Western Europe's coal and steel resources under the Schuman plan as condition for German participation in the defense setup.

Victory For U. S.

The change in the French attitude represented a clear victory for the United States. The Americans want to get the Germans into a European army as soon as possible.

The move came as President Truman and Prime Minister Attlee announced in Washington that the Western defense powers will move urgently to build up Atlantic defenses against Soviet aggression.

The North Atlantic pact deputies are meeting in London to consider ways to bring West German troops into the Western defense forces.

Gazier said that Herve Alphand, the French delegate to the London meeting, has been instructed to support a compromise being presented to the deputies by U. S. Delegate Charles Spofford.

Convene In January

Spofford has sought to reconcile the American view calling for division-size German units—supported by 10 other Atlantic pact nations—with previous French insistence that the Germans be allowed only the "smallest practicable" units.

The meeting called by the French to form a European army within the Atlantic pact will convene in January, Gazier said, but he did not specify whether the delegates to this session would be ministers, ambassadors or experts.

Gazier said the Atlantic pact deputies would meet again in three days in London to draw up a plan for the 12 foreign ministers of the Atlantic pact countries to consider. The foreign ministers themselves will meet about the end of the year, he added.

Soviet Attack Seen Dooming Peace Appeal

U. N. Plans Speedy Airing Of Crisis

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 6 (AP) — Andrei Y. Vishinsky attacked today a 13-nation appeal to Communist China to stop at the 38th parallel in Korea. His opposition and reported objections by Red China's envoy here apparently doomed the despairing plea of Asian and Middle East countries for an end to the fighting.

Informed diplomats said Wu Hsiu-Chuan, ambassador of the Chinese Communists, countered the peace appeal last night with an unofficial demand to know why it was being sent only to his government. He was said to have insisted it should be sent also to the United States. Red China and Russia both charge the U. S. is the aggressor in Korea.

Assembly To Air Crisis

There was no word from Peiping on the peace appeal and the General Assembly went ahead in an extraordinary session with plans for a fast airing of the crisis. The assembly voted 51 to 5 (Soviet bloc) to send to the Political Committee a six-power demand for U. N. action to stop the Chinese Communists. Four countries, Burma, Afghanistan, India and Indonesia abstained on this vote.

Soon after the vote, the six powers — the United States, Britain, France, Cuba, Ecuador, Norway — circulated the text of a resolution they are putting before the U. N. In exactly the same terms as the six-power resolution vetoed by Russia last Thursday in the Security Council, the proposal called for withdrawal of Red China's troops from Korea and promised that China's borders with Korea would be protected.

Vishinsky Raps Appeal

Turning from a long attack on the United States in the General Assembly, Vishinsky took a dig at the 13-nation appeal in these words:

"American armed forces crossed the 38th parallel with the approval of, among others, the authors of a statement published in the press and emanating from certain powers which now appeal for a halt at the 38th parallel. These powers supported the campaign of the MacArthur legions beyond the 38th parallel northward to the Manchurian border at the time, but now they make appeals for a halt at the 38th parallel."

Truman-Stalin Talk Urged

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 6 (AP) —The Arab League called on the United Nations today to try to bring about a Truman-Stalin meeting to prevent a world war.

The league also proposed "at least a month's truce in Korea and three months truce in the cold war everywhere" to lay the groundwork for the meeting.

Crime Probers Summon Adonis

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Joe Adonis, reputedly one of the nation's gambling overlords, has been called to testify by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee at public hearings here starting next Tuesday.

The committee, announcing this tonight, said the hearings will deal with "gambling and racketeering conditions in Northern New Jersey and elsewhere." It added the hearings are expected to continue for two days.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), the committee chairman, said that Adonis, whose real name is Joseph Doto, has a record of association with the underworld that goes back many years and "involves some of the top names in the American calendar of crime."

Bill Bans Newspapers From Radio Business

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Rep. Huber (D-Ohio) today introduced a bill "to prevent newspapers from controlling radio and television stations."

The bill would forbid the communications commission to grant a new broadcasting license or to authorize transfer of an existing permit to any person or corporation "directly or indirectly controlling" a newspaper "of general circulation."

Huber's bill would not apply to stations now operating and now controlled by newspapers.

Energy And Agreement

Committee, In Reversal, Sends Rent Measure To House Floor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 G(AP)—The administration's drive for a temporary extension of the rent control law gained headway today when the House Rules Committee reversed a previous decision and sent a 90-day extension measure to the floor for debate.

The Senate already is debating a 60-day extension, with the vote set for tomorrow.

GOP Bloc Wants Senate To Pass On Big 2 Moves

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — Twenty-four Republican senators proposed today that the Senate demand the right to pass on Truman-Attlee decisions which one of the senators said "may well mean life or death for millions of Americans."

A resolution calling on the President to make no agreements with the British Prime Minister on this country's course of action, except by a treaty subject to Senate ratification, was placed before the Senate by Sen. Kem (R-Mo).

It asked Mr. Truman also to make a full and complete report to the Senate at the end of his momentous talks with Mr. Attlee.

Twenty-three other Republicans joined Kem in sponsoring the proposal. The Missourian asked that the Senate direct its Foreign Relations Committee to have the resolution ready for Senate action Friday. But his request was blocked temporarily by Sen. Magnuson of Washington, the acting Democratic leader. And Sen. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, later asked more time to consult with leaders of the Foreign Relations Committee. There seemed a strong prospect that Democrats would prevent the resolution from being adopted.

In other developments bearing on prospective or existing controls over the nation's economy:

1. Sen. Lehman (D-NY), a thoroughgoing administration regular, told the Senate that wage and price controls undoubtedly are coming "soon."

2. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that retail food prices rose another 0.7 per cent in the first two weeks of November.

3. The same bureau submitted detailed statistics on prices, wages, rents and other cost of living data to the new wage stabilization board in preparation for the board's first full dress consideration of the economic situation next week.

4. The Senate confirmed Michael V. DiSalle, mayor of Toledo, Ohio, as price administrator.

5. Automobile dealers complained bitterly to a joint Senate-House "watchdog" committee about the new credit regulations governing the purchase of automobiles.

Meanwhile there is no immediate confirmation of reports that the Economic Stabilization Administration had asked Ford and General Motors to rescind their newly-announced automobile price increases, averaging about five per cent.

The government itself had indulged in a little price raising during the day. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in charge of the synthetic rubber program, hoisted the price of GR-S, the type of synthetic rubber used in making tires, from 18.5 cents to 24.5 cents a pound. That's better than 32 per cent. Higher production costs, the RFC explained. That was the reason the auto makers cited for their price increase.

Pearson Says Navy Is Preparing To Evacuate Yanks From Korea

By DREW PEARSON

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have grimly warned President Truman that our troops cannot hold Korea against the swarming anthill of Chinese Communists, and, as a result, that the Navy is now preparing to evacuate our ground forces from the Korean peninsula, Dunkerque style.

These are some of the unpleasant facts placed before leaders of Congress in late-night sessions with administration representatives.

A double-Dunkerque may in fact be necessary to pull out the Tenth Corps from the east coast and the Eighth Army from the west coast.

It is no longer a secret that our main worry is that the Russians might choose this moment to start World War II by striking at our evacuating army by air and submarine. The Russians, with 1,000,000 troops in Siberia, plus 4,500 airplanes at Siberian bases, plus about 60 submarines in Siberian waters are fully aware of the fact that it would be possible for them to try to sink the bulk of our army, just as the Japanese sank our Navy at Pearl Harbor.

All this doesn't mean that our troops have been hopelessly routed. Several trapped regiments have been chewed to bits, and the casualty figures will stun the nation. However, the bulk of the Tenth Corps and Eighth Army are still intact. In fact, the joint chiefs believe they could keep a toe hold on Korea by rushing reinforcements, but this would tie up our full fighting strength and would be more costly than the Korean appendix is worth.

The cost in American lives of the Korean retreat hasn't been estimated. However, the Pentagon has received spot figures which forbode a terrible casualty list — higher than that of the Battle of the Bulge.

Wasn't Love At All, Woman, 81, Claims; Divorces Mate, 99

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6 (AP) — It wasn't love at all, Mrs. Mary Olive Schneider Hornbeck, 81, claimed as she obtained a divorce today from William Hornbeck, 99.

"He was a wicked man who married me for my money," Mrs. Hornbeck said in an affidavit.

She charged that Hornbeck, former Texas oilman, disappeared with $30,000 of her money shortly after their marriage in 1940.

Bell Telephone Asks Exemption From Profit Tax

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Bell System asked the Senate today to put an exemption for telephone companies in the House-approved bill imposing a 75 per cent tax on "excess" corporate profits.

Hal S. Dumas told the Senate Finance Committee that the proposed tax might prevent phone companies from financing vital defense work.

Dumas, president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, came from Atlanta, Ga., to speak for the entire Bell System.

"We're scared to death of this bill," he told the committee, which is conducting hearings to determine what changes should be made in the measure before sending it to the Senate floor.

Dumas said the "excess profits" tax would not bring in much money from telephone companies but might drain off some funds they need to finance defense installations. He said he is even more apprehensive that "a bad bill" will discourage investors from making loans to finance such work.

Posse Seeks Clues To Livestock Killer

PRINCEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 6 (AP) — A posse of 30 farmers today found a clawed pig carcass but no other new clues to a marauder which has killed about 50 head of Peoria county livestock.

The posse searched several hours today, hoping to find tracks in new fallen snow. They plan to renew the hunt tomorrow.

Farmer Fred Perdelwitz said the raiding animal has killed more than 40 pigs, four calves, several lambs and about a dozen chickens.

U. Of Chicago Strike Hits Atom Research

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (AP)—The University of Chicago said tonight a strike of AFL workers is hampering atomic and medical research and affecting five university-operated hospitals.

The strike of about 250 janitors and maintenance workers began this morning. It cut off all building service for the hospitals, classrooms for about 6,000 students, and several laboratories.

Village Engulfed By River Of Lava From Mount Etna

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 6 (AP)—Mt. Etna poured a half-mile wide river of red-hot lava into the mountainside village of Renazzo tonight, only a few hours after the 600 villagers had been removed.

First the steadily advancing lava-head—in some places 16 feet high—streamed through the village's chestnut groves, apple orchards and vineyards. Tree turned to flaming torches.

Then the first arms of the molten rock began crushing their way into the village itself. A brickworks burst into flame and was smashed. Slowly, other houses caught fire.

Over the flat land on which the village is built, the lava advanced at 40 feet an hour.

Pittsburgh Store Warehouse Fire Started By Bomb

New Violence Marks Deliverymen's Strike

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6 (AP) — A "Molotov cocktail," hurled from a speeding auto, started a fire in the big Gimbels department store warehouse tonight but the flames were extinguished with little loss.

Gimbels is one of three downtown department stores whose 500 delivery truck drivers—members of the AFL teamsters—have been on strike 17 days in a demand for added social insurance.

Police said witnesses told them they saw men in a motor car race up a south side alley and toss something into a window of the Gimbels warehouse.

Bomb Hits Truck

The home made gasoline bomb hit one of 50 delivery trucks parked in the building and burned a side out of the vehicle. The store's sprinkling system, activated by the flames, put out the blaze before firemen arrived. No one was hurt. Other trucks and merchandise in the warehouse were undamaged. Loss was estimated at $150.

In other strike violence today, trucks were stoned at warehouses, despite presence of police, windows were broken, bringing to 18 the number of persons taken in custody in connection with the strike in the last 48 hours.

Shoppers Cross Picket Lines

Police said the eight men arrested stoned trucks at Gimbel and Horne warehouse. They were charged variously with disorderly conduct, malicious mischief and inciting to riot.

Throngs of Christmas shoppers have had to cross picket lines to gain access to Horne's, Kaufmann's and Gimbels.

A court order restrains the teamsters from employing more than five pickets at each store entrance. The Labor Standards Association, which is representing the stores, has asked the court to extend the restraining order to cover other AFL and CIO unions which have joined the drivers in a sympathy demonstration and increased picket lines.

Fumes Kill Three In W. Va. Tourist Cabin

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 6 (AP) — Carbon monoxide fumes in a tourist cabin killed two women and a man today. Another man was critically ill.

One of the women, about 30 years of age, was not identified. The two other dead were listed by State Police Sgt. M. C. Yoak as Gertrude Bair, about 48, Covington, Va., and M. R. Akers, about 30, Clifton Forge, Va.

Yoak said Lee Stuart Kraft, 29 Clifton Forge, also in the party, was unconscious in a Ronceverte hospital. He was in critical condition.

A gas heater was burning in the cabin.

U.S. Garrison Is Pulling Out From Wonsan

Three Destroyers Cover Withdrawal

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec.7 (AP)—Trapped U. S. Marines and infantrymen fought fiercely resisting Chinese Reds in a blinding snowstorm today in Northeast Korea—with some Americans breaking through one trap.

It was a savage fight for life by the U. S. forces, launched yesterday at the south tip of Changjin reservoir—but disclosed only today. Commanding officers did not want to tip off approaching reinforcements of Chinese Reds.

Already some elements have traversed the six blood-stained miles of road from Hagaru at the Reservoir's south tip to Koto—but more Reds still bar the way to the main objective. It is the big east coast center of Hamhung, close by the port of Hangnam.

Tenth Corps headquarters said all First Marine and Seventh Army Division elements on the reservoir plateau had joined forces and were fighting cohesively. There was no elaboration as to whether this meant the area from Hagaru all the way to Koto.

Chinese Reds kept pouring into North Korea from Manchuria, building up to a 1,000,000 man force. Already the Reds have forced United Nations troops in Northwest Korea to retreat more than 120 miles and have turned the U. N. situation in the northeast into a flight for survival.

Yanks Evacuating Wonsan

In the Changjin reservoir sector, U. S. Marines on the west side and Seventh Division infantrymen on the east side earlier had battled through Red traps into the town of Hagaru at the south tip.

There they had halted while Marine, Navy and Air Force planes made dawn-to-dusk attacks on men of six Chinese regiments on mountain ridges. These Reds sought to turn the road south to Koto into a "death valley."

At 6:30 a. m. Wednesday (4:30 p. m. Tuesday EST) the break out attack began at Hagaru. At 7:25 a. m. today it was disclosed that the first American elements had reached Koto.

Forty-eight miles south of Hungnam across the Gulf of Chosen, the American garrison began pulling out from the port of Wonsan, presumably by sea.

The garrison, believed to be small, was covered by South Korean marines still holding Wonsan and fighting off Red guerrillas in the area.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, which disclosed the withdrawal, said the South Korean marines would follow. The American and South Korean forces will be moved to another point on the east coast.

Warships Cover Operation

A navy summary today said the Wonsan operation was covered by the guns of three U. S. destroyers—the Hank, Sperry and Zellars. They fired approximately 600 rounds of five-inch ammunition at the Reds.

The U. S. Eighth Army, on a new defense line south of Pyongyang in Northwest Korea, reported today it still was out of contact with the main Chinese Communist armies.

The only contact of any degree reported by U. N. troops was at two points near the line. One was at Sinchang, 26 miles southeast of Pyongyang, by elements of the U. S. 24th Division. The other was by an engineering unit 10 miles southwest of Sariwon. That is more than 40 miles southwest of Pyongyang.

(The specific points on the new line have been kept a military secret. These two references, contained in a dispatch from Eighth Army headquarters, suggested it was a zig-zag line in depth.)

Allied planes maintained their heavy combat support. Pilots reported at least 1,700 red troops were killed Wednesday.

Snow, With Cold In Wake, Slowly Moving Eastward

[By The Associated Press]

Deep snow or bitter cold plagued large areas in the midcontinent Wednesday and no early relief was in sight.

Snow clouds, hovering almost stationary at the eastern edge of a mass of frigid air, dumped a 1,200 mile long blanket of snow from northern Lake Superior to Louisiana and east to Ohio.

Duluth, Minn., was buried under 31 inches of snow. Strong winds piled up high drifts that forced the closing of schools in the Duluth-Superior, Wis., area and halted residential mail deliveries. Plane service to Minneapolis and St. Paul was suspended.

The South suffered too. Memphis, Tenn., had more than a half inch of snow. Some schools closed and one man froze to death while sleeping in his automobile.

Chicago had a five-inch fall by mid-day with another five inches in prospect. Although some of the early snow melted, the fall slowed auto traffic and delayed street car and bus schedules slightly.

The storm piled 24 inches of snow on Superior, Wis., late Tuesday and early Wednesday, setting an all time record for so much snow in such a short period.

Forecasters said the snow was expected to spread slowly eastward, with Arctic cold following in its path.

U. S. Facing Another Crisis 9 Years After Pearl Harbor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Nine years ago tomorrow the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and catapulted America into World War II.

Dec. 7, 1941 ... In the words of Franklin D. Roosevelt, it marked "a day that will live in infamy."

Tonight, on the eve of that grim anniversary, the parallel between then and now stood forth in the light of a grave new crisis arising from the assault of a Chinese Communist army in Korea and the threat of Soviet armies massed half across the world.

Is the United States prepared for World War III, if it should come?

On the strong side of the question, the U. S. has the atom bomb, a powerful air arm, the world's largest navy, is far stronger in war-waging potentialities than it was in 1941 and is more unified in support of a strong anti-aggression policy.

On the weak side, the Soviet overshadows the U. S. and its allies about 2 to 1 in manpower and strategically, Russia and its satellites already have the advantage in any immediate war that might erupt in Asia or Europe. Once again, the U. S. would have to fight on distant fronts.

Weather Forecast

Cloudy with rain today probably changing to snow; colder tonight and tomorrow.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Joe Adonis, reputedly one of the nation's gambling overlords, has been called to testify by the Senate Crime Investigating Committee at public hearings here starting next Tuesday.

The committee, announcing this tonight, said the hearings will deal with "gambling and racketeering conditions in Northern New Jersey and elsewhere." It added the hearings are expected to continue for two days.

Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn), the committee chairman, said that Adonis, whose real name is Joseph Doto, has a record of association with the underworld that goes back many years and "involves some of the top names in the American calendar of crime."

Bill Bans Newspapers From Radio Business

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Rep. Huber (D-Ohio) today introduced a bill "to prevent newspapers from controlling radio and television stations."

The bill would forbid the communications commission to grant a new broadcasting license or to authorize transfer of an existing permit to any person or corporation "directly or indirectly controlling" a newspaper "of general circulation."

Huber's bill would not apply to stations now operating and now controlled by newspapers.

Energy And Agreement

Committee, In Reversal, Sends Rent Measure To House Floor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—The administration's drive for a temporary extension of the rent control law gained headway today when the House Rules Committee reversed a previous decision and sent a 90-day extension measure to the floor for debate.

The Senate already is debating a 60-day extension, with the vote set for tomorrow.

GOP Bloc Wants Senate To Pass On Big 2 Moves

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — Twenty-four Republican senators proposed today that the Senate demand the right to pass on Truman-Attlee decisions which one of the senators said "may well mean life or death for millions of Americans."

A resolution calling on the President to make no agreements with the British Prime Minister on this country's course of action, except by a treaty subject to Senate ratification, was placed before the Senate by Sen. Kem (R-Mo).

It asked Mr. Truman also to make a full and complete report to the Senate at the end of his momentous talks with Mr. Attlee.

Twenty-three other Republicans joined Kem in sponsoring the proposal. The Missourian asked that the Senate direct its Foreign Relations Committee to have the resolution ready for Senate action Friday. But his request was blocked temporarily by Sen. Magnuson of Washington, the acting Democratic leader. And Sen. Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader, later asked more time to consult with leaders of the Foreign Relations Committee. There seemed a strong prospect that Democrats would prevent the resolution from being adopted.

In other developments bearing on prospective or existing controls over the nation's economy:

1. Sen. Lehman (D-NY), a thoroughgoing administration regular, told the Senate that wage and price controls undoubtedly are coming "soon."

2. The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that retail food prices rose another 0.7 per cent in the first two weeks of November.

3. The same bureau submitted detailed statistics on prices, wages, rents and other cost of living data to the new wage stabilization board in preparation for the board's first full dress consideration of the economic situation next week.

4. The Senate confirmed Michael V. DiSalle, mayor of Toledo, Ohio, as price administrator.

5. Automobile dealers complained bitterly to a joint Senate-House "watchdog" committee about the new credit regulations governing the purchase of automobiles.

Meanwhile there is no immediate confirmation of reports that the Economic Stabilization Administration had asked Ford and General Motors to rescind their newly-announced automobile price increases, averaging about five per cent.

The government itself had indulged in a little price raising during the day. The Reconstruction Finance Corporation, in charge of the synthetic rubber program, hoisted the price of GR-S, the type of synthetic rubber used in making tires, from 18.5 cents to 24.5 cents a pound. That's better than 32 per cent. Higher production costs, the RFC explained. That was the reason the auto makers cited for their price increase.

Pearson Says Navy Is Preparing To Evacuate Yanks From Korea

By DREW PEARSON

The Joint Chiefs of Staff have grimly warned President Truman that our troops cannot hold Korea against the swarming anthill of Chinese Communists, and, as a result, that the Navy is now preparing to evacuate our ground forces from the Korean peninsula, Dunkerque style.

These are some of the unpleasant facts placed before leaders of Congress in late-night sessions with administration representatives.

A double-Dunkerque may in fact be necessary to pull out the Tenth Corps from the east coast and the Eighth Army from the west coast.

It is no longer a secret that our main worry is that the Russians might choose this moment to start World War II by striking at our evacuating army by air and submarine. The Russians, with 1,000,000 troops in Siberia, plus 4,500 airplanes at Siberian bases, plus about 60 submarines in Siberian waters are fully aware of the fact that it would be possible for them to try to sink the bulk of our army, just as the Japanese sank our Navy at Pearl Harbor.

All this doesn't mean that our troops have been hopelessly routed. Several trapped regiments have been chewed to bits, and the casualty figures will stun the nation. However, the bulk of the Tenth Corps and Eighth Army are still intact. In fact, the joint chiefs believe they could keep a toe hold on Korea by rushing reinforcements, but this would tie up our full fighting strength and would be more costly than the Korean appendix is worth.

The cost in American lives of the Korean retreat hasn't been estimated. However, the Pentagon has received spot figures which forbode a terrible casualty list — higher than that of the Battle of the Bulge.

Wasn't Love At All, Woman, 81, Claims; Divorces Mate, 99

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 6 (AP) — It wasn't love at all, Mrs. Mary Olive Schneider Hornbeck, 81, claimed as she obtained a divorce today from William Hornbeck, 99.

"He was a wicked man who married me for my money," Mrs. Hornbeck said in an affidavit.

She charged that Hornbeck, former Texas oilman, disappeared with $30,000 of her money shortly after their marriage in 1940.

Bell Telephone Asks Exemption From Profit Tax

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Bell System asked the Senate today to put an exemption for telephone companies in the House-approved bill imposing a 75 per cent tax on "excess" corporate profits.

Hal S. Dumas told the Senate Finance Committee that the proposed tax might prevent phone companies from financing vital defense work.

Dumas, president of the Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company, came from Atlanta, Ga., to speak for the entire Bell System.

"We're scared to death of this bill," he told the committee, which is conducting hearings to determine what changes should be made in the measure before sending it to the Senate floor.

Dumas said the "excess profits" tax would not bring in much money from telephone companies but might drain off some funds they need to finance defense installations. He said he is even more apprehensive that "a bad bill" will discourage investors from making loans to finance such work.

Posse Seeks Clues To Livestock Killer

PRINCEVILLE, Ill., Dec. 6 (AP) — A posse of 30 farmers today found a clawed pig carcass but no other new clues to a marauder which has killed about 50 head of Peoria county livestock.

The posse searched several hours today, hoping to find tracks in new fallen snow. They plan to renew the hunt tomorrow.

Farmer Fred Perdelwitz said the raiding animal has killed more than 40 pigs, four calves, several lambs and about a dozen chickens.

U. Of Chicago Strike Hits Atom Research

CHICAGO, Dec. 6 (AP)—The University of Chicago said tonight a strike of AFL workers is hampering atomic and medical research and affecting five university-operated hospitals.

The strike of about 250 janitors and maintenance workers began this morning. It cut off all building service for the hospitals, classrooms for about 6,000 students, and several laboratories.

Village Engulfed By River Of Lava From Mount Etna

CATANIA, Sicily, Dec. 6 (AP)—Mt. Etna poured a half-mile wide river of red-hot lava into the mountainside village of Renazzo tonight, only a few hours after the 600 villagers had been removed.

First the steadily advancing lava-head—in some places 16 feet high—streamed through the village's chestnut groves, apple orchards and vineyards. Tree turned to flaming torches.

Then the first arms of the molten rock began crushing their way into the village itself. A brickworks burst into flame and was smashed. Slowly, other houses caught fire.

Over the flat land on which the village is built, the lava advanced at 40 feet an hour.

New Violence Marks Deliverymen's Strike

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 6 (AP) — A "Molotov cocktail," hurled from a speeding auto, started a fire in the big Gimbels department store warehouse tonight but the flames were extinguished with little loss.

Gimbels is one of three downtown department stores whose 500 delivery truck drivers—members of the AFL teamsters—have been on strike 17 days in a demand for added social insurance.

Police said witnesses told them they saw men in a motor car race up a south side alley and toss something into a window of the Gimbels warehouse.

Bomb Hits Truck

The home made gasoline bomb hit one of 50 delivery trucks parked in the building and burned a side out of the vehicle. The store's sprinkling system, activated by the flames, put out the blaze before firemen arrived. No one was hurt. Other trucks and merchandise in the warehouse were undamaged. Loss was estimated at $150.

In other strike violence today, trucks were stoned at warehouses, despite presence of police, windows were broken, bringing to 18 the number of persons taken in custody in connection with the strike in the last 48 hours.

Shoppers Cross Picket Lines

Police said the eight men arrested stoned trucks at Gimbel and Horne warehouse. They were charged variously with disorderly conduct, malicious mischief and inciting to riot.

Throngs of Christmas shoppers have had to cross picket lines to gain access to Horne's, Kaufmann's and Gimbels.

A court order restrains the teamsters from employing more than five pickets at each store entrance. The Labor Standards Association, which is representing the stores, has asked the court to extend the restraining order to cover other AFL and CIO unions which have joined the drivers in a sympathy demonstration and increased picket lines.

Fumes Kill Three In W. Va. Tourist Cabin

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va., Dec. 6 (AP) — Carbon monoxide fumes in a tourist cabin killed two women and a man today. Another man was critically ill.

One of the women, about 30 years of age, was not identified. The two other dead were listed by State Police Sgt. M. C. Yoak as Gertrude Bair, about 48, Covington, Va., and M. R. Akers, about 30, Clifton Forge, Va.

Yoak said Lee Stuart Kraft, 29 Clifton Forge, also in the party, was unconscious in a Ronceverte hospital. He was in critical condition.

U.S. Garrison Is Pulling Out From Wonsan

Three Destroyers Cover Withdrawal

TOKYO, Thursday, Dec.7 (AP)—Trapped U. S. Marines and infantrymen fought fiercely resisting Chinese Reds in a blinding snowstorm today in Northeast Korea—with some Americans breaking through one trap.

It was a savage fight for life by the U. S. forces, launched yesterday at the south tip of Changjin reservoir—but disclosed only today. Commanding officers did not want to tip off approaching reinforcements of Chinese Reds.

Already some elements have traversed the six blood-stained miles of road from Hagaru at the Reservoir's south tip to Koto—but more Reds still bar the way to the main objective. It is the big east coast center of Hamhung, close by the port of Hangnam.

Tenth Corps headquarters said all First Marine and Seventh Army Division elements on the reservoir plateau had joined forces and were fighting cohesively. There was no elaboration as to whether this meant the area from Hagaru all the way to Koto.

Chinese Reds kept pouring into North Korea from Manchuria, building up to a 1,000,000 man force. Already the Reds have forced United Nations troops in Northwest Korea to retreat more than 120 miles and have turned the U. N. situation in the northeast into a flight for survival.

Yanks Evacuating Wonsan

In the Changjin reservoir sector, U. S. Marines on the west side and Seventh Division infantrymen on the east side earlier had battled through Red traps into the town of Hagaru at the south tip.

There they had halted while Marine, Navy and Air Force planes made dawn-to-dusk attacks on men of six Chinese regiments on mountain ridges. These Reds sought to turn the road south to Koto into a "death valley."

At 6:30 a. m. Wednesday (4:30 p. m. Tuesday EST) the break out attack began at Hagaru. At 7:25 a. m. today it was disclosed that the first American elements had reached Koto.

Forty-eight miles south of Hungnam across the Gulf of Chosen, the American garrison began pulling out from the port of Wonsan, presumably by sea.

The garrison, believed to be small, was covered by South Korean marines still holding Wonsan and fighting off Red guerrillas in the area.

U. S. Eighth Army headquarters, which disclosed the withdrawal, said the South Korean marines would follow. The American and South Korean forces will be moved to another point on the east coast.

Warships Cover Operation

A navy summary today said the Wonsan operation was covered by the guns of three U. S. destroyers—the Hank, Sperry and Zellars. They fired approximately 600 rounds of five-inch ammunition at the Reds.

The U. S. Eighth Army, on a new defense line south of Pyongyang in Northwest Korea, reported today it still was out of contact with the main Chinese Communist armies.

The only contact of any degree reported by U. N. troops was at two points near the line. One was at Sinchang, 26 miles southeast of Pyongyang, by elements of the U. S. 24th Division. The other was by an engineering unit 10 miles southwest of Sariwon. That is more than 40 miles southwest of Pyongyang.

(The specific points on the new line have been kept a military secret. These two references, contained in a dispatch from Eighth Army headquarters, suggested it was a zig-zag line in depth.)

Allied planes maintained their heavy combat support. Pilots reported at least 1,700 red troops were killed Wednesday.

Snow, With Cold In Wake, Slowly Moving Eastward

[By The Associated Press]

Deep snow or bitter cold plagued large areas in the midcontinent Wednesday and no early relief was in sight.

Snow clouds, hovering almost stationary at the eastern edge of a mass of frigid air, dumped a 1,200 mile long blanket of snow from northern Lake Superior to Louisiana and east to Ohio.

Duluth, Minn., was buried under 31 inches of snow. Strong winds piled up high drifts that forced the closing of schools in the Duluth-Superior, Wis., area and halted residential mail deliveries. Plane service to Minneapolis and St. Paul was suspended.

The South suffered too. Memphis, Tenn., had more than a half inch of snow. Some schools closed and one man froze to death while sleeping in his automobile.

Chicago had a five-inch fall by mid-day with another five inches in prospect. Although some of the early snow melted, the fall slowed auto traffic and delayed street car and bus schedules slightly.

The storm piled 24 inches of snow on Superior, Wis., late Tuesday and early Wednesday, setting an all time record for so much snow in such a short period.

Forecasters said the snow was expected to spread slowly eastward, with Arctic cold following in its path.

U. S. Facing Another Crisis 9 Years After Pearl Harbor

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—Nine years ago tomorrow the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor and catapulted America into World War II.

Dec. 7, 1941 ... In the words of Franklin D. Roosevelt, it marked "a day that will live in infamy."

Tonight, on the eve of that grim anniversary, the parallel between then and now stood forth in the light of a grave new crisis arising from the assault of a Chinese Communist army in Korea and the threat of Soviet armies massed half across the world.

Is the United States prepared for World War III, if it should come?

On the strong side of the question, the U. S. has the atom bomb, a powerful air arm, the world's largest navy, is far stronger in war-waging potentialities than it was in 1941 and is more unified in support of a strong anti-aggression policy.

On the weak side, the Soviet overshadows the U. S. and its allies about 2 to 1 in manpower and strategically, Russia and its satellites already have the advantage in any immediate war that might erupt in Asia or Europe. Once again, the U. S. would have to fight on distant fronts.

India Is Warned Not To Depend On Himalayas

NEW DELHI, India, Dec. 6 (AP)—The Indian Parliament heard a warning today that an aggressor can surmount the mighty Himalayas as easily as the Germans pierced the Maginot line.

J. B. Kirpalani, leader of a rebel group within the ruling Congress Party, said India must not depend upon the mountain chain for her northern defense. He called the Himalayas as flimsy a barrier as the line of military installations which failed the French in 1940. Kirpalani predicted Nepal, a buffer state between India and Tibet, will be the next Communist objective. Invasion there will surely drag India into war, he said.

Prime Minister Nehru also declared the Himalayas are less a barrier than they once were. He warned India will not tolerate infiltration across the border into Nepal, nor conditions in Nepal which weaken India's frontier.

These statements recalled recent reports that Soviet Russia had surveyed possible airbase sites in Tibet.

Nehru said only negotiation can settle the Korean crisis and "the fate of the world defends on the big powers."

New Model Bomber Is Undergoing Tests

FORT WORTH, Dec. 6 (AP)— A new, bigher-powered model of the B-36 than even the jet-engined B-36D's now in production is undergoing flight tests at the Convair plant here, G. A. Erickson, manager of flight, said today.

Designated the B-36F, the big bomber is equipped with six of the world's most powerful piston engines—developing 3,800 horsepower each—in addition to the four jet engines hung under the wings in twin pods.

"Baby Bonus" Is Suggested

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 (AP)—In some countries the government pays a monthly allowance — sometimes called a "baby bonus"—to every youngster in the nation. A suggestion was made today that the U. S. should do the same thing.

The idea came up at the Mid-Century Conference on Children and Youth, a whopper of an affair with 6,000 delegates. Their aim: To find ways of devoloping healthy personalities for youngsters.

The family allowance proposal was made to a special work group considering what effect the family income—high, low or average—has on children's personalities.

R. B. Curry, director of the family allowance program for Canada, told the group he has no idea how well such a system would work here. But he said it seems to suit Canada fine.

Man, Identified As Accident Victim, Says "Nope, It Isn't Me"

PEORIA, Ill., Dec. 6 (AP) — Sam Berry, 85, stood over the body of an accident victim in a mortuary today, studied it a moment, and then announced:

"Nope, it isn't me."

Earlier his nephews, cousins and relatives had positively identified the victim as Berry. A son, Edward, had telephoned relatives as far away as Arizona and California to notify them of his father's death.

Berry said he has no idea who the dead man was and that he himself "never felt better in my life."

The man was struck and killed by a Diesel locomotive of the Toledo, Peoria and Western Railroad as it cruised along at about 10 miles an hour.

Pope Pius Calls For Prayers For Peace

VATICAN CITY, Dec. 6 (AP)—Pope Pius XII called upon the world's Roman Catholic millions today to join in pre-Christmas prayers for "a just and sure peace."

The Pontiff declared in a Holy Year encyclical to Catholic bishops that use of mankind's newly discovered weapons of war would bring ruin.

He appealed for "public prayers x x x to obtain from God the peace and concord of peoples, so that under the auspices of religion a sacred crusade be promoted to oppose the unrestrained struggle from which come so many calamities to mankind."

Lee Quits Planning Group

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 6 (AP) — Statehouse officials said today E. Brooke Lee, long-time Montgomery County political leader, has quit the State Planning Commission and L. Harold Sothoron, former state senator from Prince Georges County, has been named to replace him.

America's Atom Lead

Debate as to whether Russia has the atom bomb died out a year or more ago in a general feeling that Russian spies had stolen its secrets in the U. S. and the Soviet probably had it. There has been little comparison—because atomic secrets are kept from the American people if not from Russian spies—of the probable strength of the United States and Russia in this field.

Most Americans believe this country has an atomic lead which Russia cannot overcome for years. But, of course, they do not know.

It seems to be generally accepted now, though, that the destruction that can be wrought by the bomb is limited. Hundreds of them would be required to destroy the great industries of either Russia or the United States. Production of the bomb is a slow and costly process.

Moreover, an atom bomb does not find a target unaided. It must be transported there. Whether the United States has bases and heavy bombers, and fighters for cover, in sufficient strength to decimate Russian industry is doubtful. Some of the bases, at least, would be useless if European allies ran out on this country or were overrun by the Reds.

That the United States has a great many more atomic bombs than Russia and can produce them more rapidly, are probably accurate surmises. But there is no longer the conviction that the atom bomb, unaided, can take care of Russia that there was several years ago.

Too Many People?

Frequently alarmists declare that within the predictable future the world's soil will be inadequate to take care of the world's population. The soil is deteriorating in fertility and the world's population—in spite of wars—is rapidly increasing, it is pointed out.

Peoples in many lands are close to starvation now, goes the thesis, and famine will be of unprecedented proportions if drouths, wars or other catastrophes become widespread.

Reason for the world's growth in population is the increase in life expectancy of human beings. As nearly as they have been able with the evidence available, scientists have determined that in prehistoric times a man's life expectancy was 18 years. Two thousand years ago in Rome the average man could expect to live 22 years.

During the Middle Ages in England life expectancy had been extended to 35 years. It remained at that point until the middle of the Nineteenth Century, when medical and surgical science began making great discoveries, people were educated in hygiene and governments began showing interest in public sanitation.

By 1900 life expectancy in the United States had leaped to 49.2 years and today it stands at 66 years. In more backward countries it is less than that but steadily climbing as new methods are accepted.

Malthus, an Englishman who died 113 years ago, had a theory based on historical research that catastrophe, famine, war, plagues and other evils beset mankind when population threatened to outgrow resources. Peoples of the world are hopeful today that through opening of new agricultural areas the Malthus theory can be beaten. In a peaceful world the probability would be great.

But if the Malthus theory is inexorable in its working, then life in succeeding generations surely will be a time of sorrow.

Mugging

Mugging is a word used by police to describe a street holdup accompanied by violence. It has been appearing with disturbing frequency in metropolitan police news, and its repetition suggests that urban streets are anything but safe after dark.

Grandfather knew the mugger as a footpad or highwayman. But the latter were solo operators. The mugger works with one or two similarly unlovely characters who gang up on a victim, slug him, rob him and run.

Police haven't been notably successful in coping with this particular brand of crime. Victims are taken by surprise and, of course, under cover of darkness. The combination defeats attempts at identification. So police have asked for the public's cooperation.

Don't, they say, flash a roll of bills in public places, thereby inviting attack. Avoid dark streets. If that isn't always possible, don't stop to answer questions or hand matches to strangers.

The advice is concise and common sense. Reenforced by adequate prison sentences on perpetrators who are caught and convicted, it should help to reduce a particularly odious form of crime. What makes crimes of this sort easily possible, of course, is the knowledge that victims are unarmed. It is, in fact, against the law for them to arm themselves against such onslaughts.

Cigarets And Cash

Many features of the war in Korea are different from those of World War II. One is the usefulness of cigarets as a substitute for money. In World War II American service men in most foreign theaters found that cigarets were a universal currency. They would sometimes buy things which could not be had for money, and the apparent dollar value in trade for goods was usually far above their price at home.

American soldiers moving through Korea have used cigarets for money, but not with anything like the success of the operation in World War II. They are likely to get less in exchange value than the cigarets are worth, rather than more. Production of American cigarets is now about twice what it was at the start of World War II. The thing which has happened to cigaret currency is what happens to any other; when more of it is put into circulation, it loses value.

Burden Of Leadership

"The fuehrer practically lives in a concentration camp. Whether the guards before his general headquarters are furnished by the Gestapo or some prisoner of war camp, the effect is the same. The loneliness of general headquarters and the whole method of working there have at long last had an extraordinarily depressing effect upon him. He hasn't the slightest opportunity for relaxation, and as long as he is awake is surrounded by work and responsibility."

This passage about Hitler, from the diaries of Josef Goebbels, the head nazi propagandist, must apply equally well to the ever-guarded Stalin. It possibly explains much about the otherwise unintelligible Kremlin.

Menopausal Symptoms Can Be Relieved

THERE is no need for women to suffer during the menopause because tablets and "shots" are available to alleviate distress. But physicians are careful not to prescribe hormones for every little hot flash or attack of jitters. They have found from experience that indiscriminate usage of these products has too many drawbacks.

The change of life is accompanied by a gradual or sudden cessation of the menses with alterations in the reproductive structures. It most commonly occurs between 45 and 50 years of age. The pattern is not consistent in that the menopause begins earlier or later in some and may last for a few months to several years. In about 25 per cent of the women the periods stop without any other disturbance. Sixty per cent have mild symptoms, not severe enough to interfere with their usual occupation or to demand treatment. This leaves 10 to 15 per cent who are incapacitated and require hormone therapy.

The hot flash probably is the most annoying feature. It may come on any time in the day or night and creates embarrassment, especially at a formal dinner dance. It consists of a sudden sensation of heat in the upper half of the body as though the sun were coming a little closer to the earth. In addition, the skin flushes and now and then the attack is accompanied by a smothering sensation, profuse perspiration, dizziness, flashes of light before the eyes, and tingling about the head, neck, and body. Sometimes these bouts end within a few moments but they may last as long as 30 minutes. The number varies; some have 30 to 50 flashes a day. Milady also may notice a tendency to tire easily and may be more irritable and apprehensive than usual. Insomnia, flatulence, and headache are not unusual. Pre-existing ailments may be intensified.

It is not easy to determine whether any associated emotional disorders are related to the menopause. After all, this is a period of life in which many changes are experienced, any one of which may lead to nervous manifestations. Individuals in their forties have climbed the mountain peak and are starting to descent on the other side. Financial problems may increase tension and there are signs of bodily wear and tear. Having a baby at this age could create an unusual burden yet there is an inherent drive to retain the reproductive function. But great care must be taken not to blame every disorder on the menopause. Obesity, for example, is not caused by the cessation of menstruation; neither is hypertension, cancer, or arthritis. These conditions are coincidental because they are more common in middle age than in younger groups.

The hormones are administered hypodermically or in tablet form. Many varieties are available inasmuch as they are made by numerous pharmaceutical houses. Thyroid extract often is used in conjunction with the sex hormones because many menopausal women are in need of this additional lift. Sedatives help to allay apprehension. But the sex hormones are powerful and too much may stimulate menstruation. In addition, they aggravate cancer if it is present. This possibility explains why a thorough examination is necessary before substances of this nature are taken.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Attlee And Truman Have Similar Characteristics; Churchill Helped Arrange Attlee Trip; Writes Poetry About British Workingman's District

Says DREW PEARSON

(The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Clement Attlee, Prime Minister of Great Britain.)

WASHINGTON—There is a certain vein of similarity running through the lives of the two men who conferred this week regarding the course to be followed by the British and American governments toward future war or peace.

Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman both are left-of-center liberals, both have spent much of their lives in government, both have tried to work for the less-privileged sector of the British and American people.

Neither is considered a strong man in his own country, neither is a man of much imagination, neither has the force, the flair, the genius of two others who conferred a great deal during the past decade—Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

However, Clement Attlee, in his quiet way and backed by a powerful Labor party, has put across a schedule of socialist legislation which staid old Britons never dreamed could happen.

And while these reforms were passed in the face of vigorous Conservative opposition, nevertheless Attlee today has one important advantage over President Truman. He has the support of his opponent, Winston Churchill, when it comes to foreign policy.

Churchill Advised Trip

Furthermore, he has the support of most of the Conservative party. On the other hand, Truman of late has had the bitter, sometimes vitriolic opposition of a majority of Republican senators in regard to almost every foreign-policy move he has made.

Attlee not only was careful to get Churchill's support before he left London, but Churchill even advised him on how to force Truman's hand regarding the trip.

What happened was that immediately after the Prime Minister heard of Truman's atom-bomb statement, he called on Churchill. Though political opponents, the two men served in the same coalition war cabinet together and are personal friends. At one time Attlee was Churchill's deputy prime minister, and handled British domestic affairs while Churchill was busy with the war.

With this background of friendship, it is not hard to understand why Attlee should have consulted Churchill or that Churchill advised him that he should take the trip to Washington. Furthermore, Churchill suggested that inasmuch as Truman might be opposed to the trip, Attlee should make a premature announcement of his plan—thus making it impossible for Truman to decline. This was why news of Attlee's plans prematurely leaked from London.

Churchill also promised Attlee that no effort would be made to overthrow the Labor government while he was away.

Attlee's Tory Background

Though Truman and Attlee have much in common politically, Attlee came from more conservative surroundings. His father was a Tory lawyer and president of the British equivalent to the American Bar Association. After studying at England's ritziest schools and being admitted to the bar, however, young Attlee suddenly became a social worker. At the age of 24 he went to work and lived in Limehouse, one of London's workmen's districts, and he has made his life with labor ever since.

Unlike Mr. Truman, who frequently lapses into Missouri mule-driver's language, Attlee's diction is cultured, sometimes poetic. In fact, he has written some widely quoted poems, one of them regarding his own workingmen's district, which reads:

"I hear the feet of many men who go their way. . .
Through streets that have no pity, and streets where men decay."

Repairs Own Pipes

Attlee is married to Violet Helen Millar, and for many years they lived with their four children in a modest house in a London suburb where Attlee did a little gardening and repaired his own pipes in his own carpenter's shop.

Unlike Truman, Attlee is a halting, none-too-forceful speaker. When he speaks impromptu, he hesitates and repeats. The President, on the other hand, is at his best when speaking off the cuff. In conferences, Attlee tries to win his point by charm and persuasion. The President sometimes gets impatient and petulant.

When Foreign Minister Molotov visited Truman a few days after Roosevelt's death while en route to the San Francisco conference, the new President spent 45 minutes bawling him out. There have been many occasions when Molotov deserved such a scolding. But at that time, when our Russian relations were on a relatively even keel, many diplomats felt that Truman touched off a new chapter of Soviet enmity.

In Europe, Attlee and his government are considered among the most vigorous of all opponents to communism, and it is sometimes predicted that, in case the Russians overran Europe, the Attlee cabinet would be the first to be lined up against the wall. This is because the British Labor party has more to fear from communism than any other ism—and vice versa.

Personally, Attlee has been among the toughest British fighters against both fascism and communism. He refused a post in the Chamberlain government because of Chamberlain's Munich appeasement, and he was among the first to go on record against the Japanese war lords, Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopa, and the Franco revolution in Spain.

MATTER OF FACT

By JOSEPH And STEWART ALSOP

The Disaster

WASHINGTON

THE CITIZENS mourned and the city mourned; they had lost the flower of their youth, and there were none to replace them. Whichever way they looked there was trouble; they were overwhelmed by their calamity, and were in fear and consternation unutterable.

This is a fragment from the account of how the people of Athens received the fearful news of the loss of their army at Syracuse, nearly 2,500 years ago. History is cruelly repetitious. Thucydides describes with cold precision how incredulity and rage, then sorrow and terror, successively gripped and shook the Athenians. In these days we in America have likewise been gripped and shaken by the same hideous sequence of emotions.

Yet "consternation unutterable" cannot be the final response to disaster of any nation that wishes to survive. It is necessary, therefore, to try to see, first of all, just how the disaster in Korea has affected our situation all over the world. The following is the best summary that can be offered of the grim balance sheet of calamity that the American policy-makers have been busy casting up.

First, the situation in Asia has deteriorated so far that it may well prove impossible to contain the back-wash of the Korean defeat. The chances are at least nine to one that their success in Korea will encourage the Chinese to attack again in Indo-China, and perhaps to seize Hongkong. Meanwhile, the Japanese people, encouraged by the spectacle of our misfortune, seeing their country left without a garrison, may well attempt to throw off the yoke of the occupation. Every Asiatic government is already trembling, and the mere loss of Indo-China will alone be enough to cause the eventual loss of all Asia.

Unthinkable Diversion

To prevent these future horrors, stern action against China is obviously the only recourse. But we have not now the divisions to invade the Chinese mainland. And even when we have rebuilt our army a full scale ground war with the Chinese will be an unthinkable diversion from the main scene of peril, which is Europe.

Thus blockading the Chinese coast, disrupting the Chinese communications by air attack and encouraging and aiding the anti-Communist forces, including the large band of anti-Communist guerrillas in South China, are the only steps open. If this policy is energetically followed, there is a chance—but only a chance—that the Chinese will be kept too busy at home for further adventures abroad, and that the Japanese and other Asiatics will remain quiet. Meanwhile, Korea itself must wait until Western strength has been rebuilt.

Second, however, enforcing this policy will be extremely difficult, if only because the main objective of Prime Minister Attlee's current meeting with President Truman is to prevent "entanglement in a Chinese war." Full scale war is what the British fear. The outcome of the Truman-Attlee meeting will show whether they can be persuaded to support more limited measures. Most probably the relief of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur will have to be ordered, if real British and European confidence in our Far Eastern leadership is to be restored.

As though this were not bad enough, the shock of the Korean defeat has obviously tended to paralyze the whole Western alliance. A mood is growing in Britain as well as Europe proper, in which feeble hand-wringing is taken as a substitute for decisive action. The plain truth is that the Western alliance against Soviet aggression is now in deadly peril of falling apart.

Soviet Running Ahead

Third, the revealed descrepancies in Soviet and Western timetables are now downright terrifying. On our side we have torn up the plans to build a Western defense in four years, and the objective now is to do the job in two years. This will place completion of the Western defenses in the winter of 1952-'53 at the earliest. Meanwhile, Soviet war preparation is virtually complete. By the spring of 1952 the Kremlin should dispose of a stockpile of approximately 60 atomic bombs—enough to paralyze the Western

U. S. Memorandum To UN Recognizes State Of War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 — The United States Government has recognized that a state of war exists with Communist China — that is the true meaning of the American memorandum submitted to the UN Assembly demanding immediate action "on the attack" by Chinese Communists on UN forces.

This is a realistic approach. It means that President Truman, with characteristic appreciation of the average man's reaction to any attack on American forces, means to move ahead in a positive way to find a formula to deal with aggression in any quarter, no matter whence it comes.

The assumption that by standing up for America's position in entering Korea under a UN directive there is danger of a large-scale war is one that is being made in Europe and in many parts of the United States, but it does not necessarily follow that large-scale war is contemplated by America.

The latest crystallization of opinion here in military circles, however, is that the United States, acting with the cooperation of the UN, can exert military power to bring Communist China to terms. Obviously, there are now no UN land armies of sufficient size to be pitted against the millions of Communist Chinese. But America holds two trump cards — air power and naval power.

If the Communist Chinese want all-out war, it would not be fought on the battle grounds that they choose. It would be fought in the air and along the sea coast. The United States would not use the atom bomb, but it has some other devastating bombs of a conventional nature which can be used for a sustained attack on Chinese strategic centers, and this can be kept up for months, and even years, if necessary, to secure the desired result.

By the use of the American fleet and such naval units from other UN members as are available, a general blockade of the entire Chinese coast can be effectively imposed. Likewise, American bombing squadrons can destroy Chinese communications from the south of China as well as the north, and carry on a campaign of harassment which would undoubtedly encourage the formation of huge troops of "volunteers" of another kind. With a population of 450,000,000 in China, it is to be assumed that, if the Communists can raise an army of "volunteers" to fight in Korea against the UN, there may be an equal or greater number of "volunteers" who can be mobilized to support the UN. Also, to borrow an idea from Vishinsky — there could be a million Japanese "volunteers" mobilized to support the UN in Manchuria.

So far as can be determined now, the action of the UN will not be one of war against China or the Chinese people, but against one faction in China, namely, the Communists. There is precedent for this. On April 20, 1914, the late President Woodrow Wilson appeared before Congress and asked authority to use the armed forces of the United States, not to make war on the Mexican people, but, as he phrased it in his personal address to Congress:

". . . to use the armed forces of the United States in such ways and to such an extent as may be necessary to obtain from General Huerta and his adherents the fullest recognition of the rights and dignity of the United States, even amid the distressing conditions now unhappily obtaining in Mexico."

If the name of "Mao" is substituted for "Huerta" and "China" for "Mexico" the situation insofar as legal authority is concerned becomes almost parallel.

Whenever the President of the United States asks the authority of Congress to employ the armed forces of this country it is in effect a recognition of a state of war. In this instance, however, it is logical for President Truman to wait for the UN Assembly to act before asking the authority of Congress to employ the armed forces of the United States in support of the UN resolution. It may be contended that our armed forces are already in Korea upon an order of the President and that no ratification by Congress is necessary, but because of the many involved legal precedents a resolution by Congress would stem desirable.

One reason for the passage of a formal resolution recognizing a state of war with one faction of China would be to acquire an entirely new setup in any future peace terms in the Far East. Likewise, the present Nationalist government in China would become a co-belligerent with the UN in fighting the Communist faction which purports to represent the Chinese people.

The ultimate result of the procedure could be to bring about free elections, uncoerced by the military, and an entirely new setup in China when Communism has been crushed.

The moment the United States puts forth a definite and positive program which reveals that it will carry on relentlessly against the Communist Chinese unless they retreat from Korea, the entire situation will be clarified and a large-scale ground war in that part of the world will probably be averted. It is a time for resoluteness and not for timidity and there are signs that President Truman is well aware of the desire of the average man in America to protect the armed forces already committed in Korea, and to obtain redress from the Chinese faction which has dared to attack UN forces in defiance of world opinion.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Chinese Communists

TO grasp the enormous forces of the Chinese Communists it is necessary to go back into their history.

In 1919, students in Shanghai and Peking determined that China would never sign the Paris Peace Treaty which recognized Japan's rights in Shantung. A students' strike was organized which soon spread to a general strike, encompassing the entire nation. It was a normal response of patriotic youth to the betrayal of their country, an ally, by the statesmen at Versailles. In my book, "The Tinderbox in Asia," published in 1932, I wrote:

". . . I do not recall a single instance of a student expressing antagonism to Russia. I do remember numerous expressions of a desire to visit Russia to discover there the process of freeing China from imperialism as Russia was being freed from imperialism. . ."

Sun Yat-Sen was curious about Soviet Russia not because of its social and political theories but because the Russians had succeeded in pushing out the Westerners. Hundreds, perhaps even thousands of Chinese students trekked to Soviet Russia to see for themselves. In Russia they encountered no racial attitudes of any kind. The Anglo-Saxon superiority which these students had known in Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton, Hankow and even Peking, did not exist.

By 1920, the Young Socialist Association and the secretariat of the Chinese Communist party, which in 1950 has had an uninterrupted, militant existence of 30 years. China was actually represented at the Baku Congress of Nations in September, 1920, presided over by Zinoviev, president of the Third International. Li Ta-Chao was the Chinese member. At the second Congress of the Third International, he reported that China was fully prepared for a Communist movement. "China was refused everything at the peace conference," he said. The first Congress of the Chinese Communist Party was held in 1922.

Michael Borodin, an American Communist in the service of Russia, was made adviser to Sun by agreement with Russia in 1924. The process of infiltration was then worked out experimentally along these lines:

"Dr. Sun and Borodin settled the policy of the Kuomintang on the basis of a threefold thesis: 1. Cooperation between the Kuomintang and the Chinese Communist party; 2. Cooperation between Nationalist China and Soviet Russia; 3. support of the Labourers and Peasants movement. Dr. Sun agreed that members of the Chinese Communist party could become members of the Kuomintang as individuals. Thus the ranks of the Kuomintang were swelled by a new membership, which numerically was larger than the former non-communistic membership. Many of the older Kuomintang leaders were opposed to swamping the party in this manner, but none, at the beginning, dared to oppose Dr. Sun."

One of the most significant agencies of Communist control, established during this period, was the Whampo Military Academy, of which Chiang Kai-Shek was the head, and the Russian, General Galensbluecher, the principal Russian instructor. This school was modelled upon the Red Army schools founded by Leon Trotsky. Russian instructors, drillmasters and technical experts were sent to Whampoa to produce the new officers of China's Red Army.

An event occurred on May 30, 1945, which gave the revolution its springboard. In the course of a strike in a Japanese-owned cotton mill in Shanghai, a Sikh policeman in the International settlement shot at a Chinese worker.

The Communists seized the incident to develop a widespread anti-British movement which took on the characteristics of a general strike. By exploiting anti-foreignism, they tied the hands of the conservative elements in the country. They were able to organize labor and students unions and to start the actual civil war under the leadership of Borodin and Chiang.

The relations between Borodin and Chiang had become extremely antagonistic during the Christmas week of 1926. Chiang escaped to Shanghai, where he began to organize the Nationalist government at Nanking, thus preventing Communist control of China as far back as 1927, but the Communist army, trained by Russians, continued its operations as a guerrilla force.

In 1932, I wrote:

". . . My experience in Russia during the Communist revolution confirms the opinion that such a revolution can only succeed if any important units of the army are willing to join the Communists. In present circumstances in China it is possible to believe that a large section of the army will go over if the Communists win a decisive victary."

America's Atom Lead

Debate as to whether Russia has the atom bomb died out a year or more ago in a general feeling that Russian spies had stolen its secrets in the U. S. and the Soviet probably had it. There has been little comparison—because atomic secrets are kept from the American people if not from Russian spies—of the probable strength of the United States and Russia in this field.

Most Americans believe this country has an atomic lead which Russia cannot overcome for years. But, of course, they do not know.

It seems to be generally accepted now, though, that the destruction that can be wrought by the bomb is limited. Hundreds of them would be required to destroy the great industries of either Russia or the United States. Production of the bomb is a slow and costly process.

Moreover, an atom bomb does not find a target unaided. It must be transported there. Whether the United States has bases and heavy bombers, and fighters for cover, in sufficient strength to decimate Russian industry is doubtful. Some of the bases, at least, would be useless if European allies ran out on this country or were overrun by the Reds.

That the United States has a great many more atomic bombs than Russia and can produce them more rapidly, are probably accurate surmises. But there is no longer the conviction that the atom bomb, unaided, can take care of Russia that there was several years ago.

Too Many People?

Frequently alarmists declare that within the predictable future the world's soil will be inadequate to take care of the world's population. The soil is deteriorating in fertility and the world's population—in spite of wars—is rapidly increasing, it is pointed out.

Peoples in many lands are close to starvation now, goes the thesis, and famine will be of unprecedented proportions if drouths, wars or other catastrophes become widespread.

Reason for the world's growth in population is the increase in life expectancy of human beings. As nearly as they have been able with the evidence available, scientists have determined that in prehistoric times a man's life expectancy was 18 years. Two thousand years ago in Rome the average man could expect to live 22 years.

During the Middle Ages in England life expectancy had been extended to 35 years. It remained at that point until the middle of the Nineteenth Century, when medical and surgical science began making great discoveries, people were educated in hygiene and governments began showing interest in public sanitation.

By 1900 life expectancy in the United States had leaped to 49.2 years and today it stands at 66 years. In more backward countries it is less than that but steadily climbing as new methods are accepted.

Malthus, an Englishman who died 113 years ago, had a theory based on historical research that catastrophe, famine, war, plagues and other evils beset mankind when population threatened to outgrow resources. Peoples of the world are hopeful today that through opening of new agricultural areas the Malthus theory can be beaten. In a peaceful world the probability would be great.

But if the Malthus theory is inexorable in its working, then life in succeeding generations surely will be a time of sorrow.

Mugging

Mugging is a word used by police to describe a street holdup accompanied by violence. It has been appearing with disturbing frequency in metropolitan police news, and its repetition suggests that urban streets are anything but safe after dark.

Grandfather knew the mugger as a footpad or highwayman. But the latter were solo operators. The mugger works with one or two similarly unlovely characters who gang up on a victim, slug him, rob him and run.

Police haven't been notably successful in coping with this particular brand of crime. Victims are taken by surprise and, of course, under cover of darkness. The combination defeats attempts at identification. So police have asked for the public's cooperation.

Don't, they say, flash a roll of bills in public places, thereby inviting attack. Avoid dark streets. If that isn't always possible, don't stop to answer questions or hand matches to strangers.

The advice is concise and common sense. Reenforced by adequate prison sentences on perpetrators who are caught and convicted, it should help to reduce a particularly odious form of crime. What makes crimes of this sort easily possible, of course, is the knowledge that victims are unarmed. It is, in fact, against the law for them to arm themselves against such onslaughts.

Cigarets And Cash

Many features of the war in Korea are different from those of World War II. One is the usefulness of cigarets as a substitute for money. In World War II American service men in most foreign theaters found that cigarets were a universal currency. They would sometimes buy things which could not be had for money, and the apparent dollar value in trade for goods was usually far above their price at home.

American soldiers moving through Korea have used cigarets for money, but not with anything like the success of the operation in World War II. They are likely to get less in exchange value than the cigarets are worth, rather than more. Production of American cigarets is now about twice what it was at the start of World War II. The thing which has happened to cigaret currency is what happens to any other; when more of it is put into circulation, it loses value.

Burden Of Leadership

"The fuehrer practically lives in a concentration camp. Whether the guards before his general headquarters are furnished by the Gestapo or some prisoner of war camp, the effect is the same. The loneliness of general headquarters and the whole method of working there have at long last had an extraordinarily depressing effect upon him. He hasn't the slightest opportunity for relaxation, and as long as he is awake is surrounded by work and responsibility."

This passage about Hitler, from the diaries of Josef Goebbels, the head nazi propagandist, must apply equally well to the ever-guarded Stalin. It possibly explains much about the otherwise unintelligible Kremlin.

Menopausal Symptoms Can Be Relieved

THERE is no need for women to suffer during the menopause because tablets and "shots" are available to alleviate distress. But physicians are careful not to prescribe hormones for every little hot flash or attack of jitters. They have found from experience that indiscriminate usage of these products has too many drawbacks.

The change of life is accompanied by a gradual or sudden cessation of the menses with alterations in the reproductive structures. It most commonly occurs between 45 and 50 years of age. The pattern is not consistent in that the menopause begins earlier or later in some and may last for a few months to several years. In about 25 per cent of the women the periods stop without any other disturbance. Sixty per cent have mild symptoms, not severe enough to interfere with their usual occupation or to demand treatment. This leaves 10 to 15 per cent who are incapacitated and require hormone therapy.

The hot flash probably is the most annoying feature. It may come on any time in the day or night and creates embarrassment, especially at a formal dinner dance. It consists of a sudden sensation of heat in the upper half of the body as though the sun were coming a little closer to the earth. In addition, the skin flushes and now and then the attack is accompanied by a smothering sensation, profuse perspiration, dizziness, flashes of light before the eyes, and tingling about the head, neck, and body. Sometimes these bouts end within a few moments but they may last as long as 30 minutes. The number varies; some have 30 to 50 flashes a day. Milady also may notice a tendency to tire easily and may be more irritable and apprehensive than usual. Insomnia, flatulence, and headache are not unusual. Pre-existing ailments may be intensified.

It is not easy to determine whether any associated emotional disorders are related to the menopause. After all, this is a period of life in which many changes are experienced, any one of which may lead to nervous manifestations. Individuals in their forties have climbed the mountain peak and are starting to descent on the other side. Financial problems may increase tension and there are signs of bodily wear and tear. Having a baby at this age could create an unusual burden yet there is an inherent drive to retain the reproductive function. But great care must be taken not to blame every disorder on the menopause. Obesity, for example, is not caused by the cessation of menstruation; neither is hypertension, cancer, or arthritis. These conditions are coincidental because they are more common in middle age than in younger groups.

The hormones are administered hypodermically or in tablet form. Many varieties are available inasmuch as they are made by numerous pharmaceutical houses. Thyroid extract often is used in conjunction with the sex hormones because many menopausal women are in need of this additional lift. Sedatives help to allay apprehension. But the sex hormones are powerful and too much may stimulate menstruation. In addition, they aggravate cancer if it is present. This possibility explains why a thorough examination is necessary before substances of this nature are taken.

Attlee And Truman Have Similar Characteristics; Churchill Helped Arrange Attlee Trip; Writes Poetry About British Workingman's District

By DREW PEARSON

(The brass ring, good for one free ride on the Washington Merry-Go-Round, today goes to Clement Attlee, Prime Minister of Great Britain.)

WASHINGTON—There is a certain vein of similarity running through the lives of the two men who conferred this week regarding the course to be followed by the British and American governments toward future war or peace.

Prime Minister Attlee and President Truman both are left-of-center liberals, both have spent much of their lives in government, both have tried to work for the less-privileged sector of the British and American people.

Neither is considered a strong man in his own country, neither is a man of much imagination, neither has the force, the flair, the genius of two others who conferred a great deal during the past decade—Franklin Roosevelt and Winston Churchill.

However, Clement Attlee, in his quiet way and backed by a powerful Labor party, has put across a schedule of socialist legislation which staid old Britons never dreamed could happen.

And while these reforms were passed in the face of vigorous Conservative opposition, nevertheless Attlee today has one important advantage over President Truman. He has the support of his opponent, Winston Churchill, when it comes to foreign policy.

Churchill Advised Trip

Furthermore, he has the support of most of the Conservative party. On the other hand, Truman of late has had the bitter, sometimes vitriolic opposition of a majority of Republican senators in regard to almost every foreign-policy move he has made.

Attlee not only was careful to get Churchill's support before he left London, but Churchill even advised him on how to force Truman's hand regarding the trip.

What happened was that immediately after the Prime Minister heard of Truman's atom-bomb statement, he called on Churchill. Though political opponents, the two men served in the same coalition war cabinet together and are personal friends. At one time Attlee was Churchill's deputy prime minister, and handled British domestic affairs while Churchill was busy with the war.

With this background of friendship, it is not hard to understand why Attlee should have consulted Churchill or that Churchill advised him that he should take the trip to Washington. Furthermore, Churchill suggested that inasmuch as Truman might be opposed to the trip, Attlee should make a premature announcement of his plan—thus making it impossible for Truman to decline. This was why news of Attlee's plans prematurely leaked from London.

Churchill also promised Attlee that no effort would be made to overthrow the Labor government while he was away.

Attlee's Tory Background

Though Truman and Attlee have much in common politically, Attlee came from more conservative surroundings. His father was a Tory lawyer and president of the British equivalent to the American Bar Association. After studying at England's ritziest schools and being admitted to the bar, however, young Attlee suddenly became a social worker. At the age of 24 he went to work and lived in Limehouse, one of London's workmen's districts, and he has made his life with labor ever since.

Unlike Mr. Truman, who frequently lapses into Missouri mule-driver's language, Attlee's diction is cultured, sometimes poetic. In fact, he has written some widely quoted poems, one of them regarding his own workingmen's district, which reads:

"I hear the feet of many men who go their way. . .

Repairs Own Pipes

Attlee is married to Violet Helen Millar, and for many years they lived with their four children in a modest house in a London suburb where Attlee did a little gardening and repaired his own pipes in his own carpenter's shop.

Unlike Truman, Attlee is a halting, none-too-forceful speaker. When he speaks impromptu, he hesitates and repeats. The President, on the other hand, is at his best when speaking off the cuff. In conferences, Attlee tries to win his point by charm and persuasion. The President sometimes gets impatient and petulant.

When Foreign Minister Molotov visited Truman a few days after Roosevelt's death while en route to the San Francisco conference, the new President spent 45 minutes bawling him out. There have been many occasions when Molotov deserved such a scolding. But at that time, when our Russian relations were on a relatively even keel, many diplomats felt that Truman touched off a new chapter of Soviet enmity.

In Europe, Attlee and his government are considered among the most vigorous of all opponents to communism, and it is sometimes predicted that, in case the Russians overran Europe, the Attlee cabinet would be the first to be lined up against the wall. This is because the British Labor party has more to fear from communism than any other ism—and vice versa.

Personally, Attlee has been among the toughest British fighters against both fascism and communism. He refused a post in the Chamberlain government because of Chamberlain's Munich appeasement, and he was among the first to go on record against the Japanese war lords, Mussolini's invasion of Ethiopa, and the Franco revolution in Spain.

MATTER OF FACT

WASHINGTON

THE CITIZENS mourned and the city mourned; they had lost the flower of their youth, and there were none to replace them. Whichever way they looked there was trouble; they were overwhelmed by their calamity, and were in fear and consternation unutterable.

This is a fragment from the account of how the people of Athens received the fearful news of the loss of their army at Syracuse, nearly 2,500 years ago. History is cruelly repetitious. Thucydides describes with cold precision how incredulity and rage, then sorrow and terror, successively gripped and shook the Athenians. In these days we in America have likewise been gripped and shaken by the same hideous sequence of emotions.

Yet "consternation unutterable" cannot be the final response to disaster of any nation that wishes to survive. It is necessary, therefore, to try to see, first of all, just how the disaster in Korea has affected our situation all over the world. The following is the best summary that can be offered of the grim balance sheet of calamity that the American policy-makers have been busy casting up.

First, the situation in Asia has deteriorated so far that it may well prove impossible to contain the back-wash of the Korean defeat. The chances are at least nine to one that their success in Korea will encourage the Chinese to attack again in Indo-China, and perhaps to seize Hongkong. Meanwhile, the Japanese people, encouraged by the spectacle of our misfortune, seeing their country left without a garrison, may well attempt to throw off the yoke of the occupation. Every Asiatic government is already trembling, and the mere loss of Indo-China will alone be enough to cause the eventual loss of all Asia.

Unthinkable Diversion

To prevent these future horrors, stern action against China is obviously the only recourse. But we have not now the divisions to invade the Chinese mainland. And even when we have rebuilt our army a full scale ground war with the Chinese will be an unthinkable diversion from the main scene of peril, which is Europe.

Thus blockading the Chinese coast, disrupting the Chinese communications by air attack and encouraging and aiding the anti-Communist forces, including the large band of anti-Communist guerrillas in South China, are the only steps open. If this policy is energetically followed, there is a chance—but only a chance—that the Chinese will be kept too busy at home for further adventures abroad, and that the Japanese and other Asiatics will remain quiet. Meanwhile, Korea itself must wait until Western strength has been rebuilt.

Second, however, enforcing this policy will be extremely difficult, if only because the main objective of Prime Minister Attlee's current meeting with President Truman is to prevent "entanglement in a Chinese war." Full scale war is what the British fear. The outcome of the Truman-Attlee meeting will show whether they can be persuaded to support more limited measures. Most probably the relief of General of the Army Douglas MacArthur will have to be ordered, if real British and European confidence in our Far Eastern leadership is to be restored.

As though this were not bad enough, the shock of the Korean defeat has obviously tended to paralyze the whole Western alliance. A mood is growing in Britain as well as Europe proper, in which feeble hand-wringing is taken as a substitute for decisive action. The plain truth is that the Western alliance against Soviet aggression is now in deadly peril of falling apart.

Soviet Running Ahead

Third, the revealed descrepancies in Soviet and Western timetables are now downright terrifying. On our side we have torn up the plans to build a Western defense in four years, and the objective now is to do the job in two years. This will place completion of the Western defenses in the winter of 1952-'53 at the earliest. Meanwhile, Soviet war preparation is virtually complete. By the spring of 1952 the Kremlin should dispose of a stockpile of approximately 60 atomic bombs—enough to paralyze the Western

U. S. Memorandum To UN Recognizes State Of War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 6 — The United States Government has recognized that a state of war exists with Communist China — that is the true meaning of the American memorandum submitted to the UN Assembly demanding immediate action "on the attack" by Chinese Communists on UN forces.

This is a realistic approach. It means that President Truman, with characteristic appreciation of the average man's reaction to any attack on American forces, means to move ahead in a positive way to find a formula to deal with aggression in any quarter, no matter whence it comes.

The assumption that by standing up for America's position in entering Korea under a UN directive there is danger of a large-scale war is one that is being made in Europe and in many parts of the United States, but it does not necessarily follow that large-scale war is contemplated by America.

The latest crystallization of opinion here in military circles, however, is that the United States, acting with the cooperation of the UN, can exert military power to bring Communist China to terms. Obviously, there are now no UN land armies of sufficient size to be pitted against the millions of Communist Chinese. But America holds two trump cards — air power and naval power.

If the Communist Chinese want all-out war, it would not be fought on the battle grounds that they choose. It would be fought in the air and along the sea coast. The United States would not use the atom bomb, but it has some other devastating bombs of a conventional nature which can be used for a sustained attack on Chinese strategic centers, and this can be kept up for months, and even years, if necessary, to secure the desired result.

By the use of the American fleet and such naval units from other UN members as are available, a general blockade of the entire Chinese coast can be effectively imposed. Likewise, American bombing squadrons can destroy Chinese communications from the south of China as well as the north, and carry on a campaign of harassment which would undoubtedly encourage the formation of huge troops of "volunteers" of another kind. With a population of 450,000,000 in China, it is to be assumed that, if the Communists can raise an army of "volunteers" to fight in Korea against the UN, there may be an equal or greater number of "volunteers" who can be mobilized to support the UN. Also, to borrow an idea from Vishinsky — there could be a million Japanese "volunteers" mobilized to support the UN in Manchuria.

So far as can be determined now, the action of the UN will not be one of war against China or the Chinese people, but against one faction in China, namely, the Communists. There is precedent for this. On April 20, 1914, the late President Woodrow Wilson appeared before Congress and asked authority to use the armed forces of the United States, not to make war on the Mexican people, but, as he phrased it in his personal address to Congress:

". . . to use the armed forces of the United States in such ways and to such an extent as may be necessary to obtain from General Huerta and his adherents the fullest recognition of the rights and dignity of the United States, even amid the distressing conditions now unhappily obtaining in Mexico."

If the name of "Mao" is substituted for "Huerta" and "China" for "Mexico" the situation insofar as legal authority is concerned becomes almost parallel.

Whenever the President of the United States asks the authority of Congress to employ the armed forces of this country it is in effect a recognition of a state of war. In this instance, however, it is logical for President Truman to wait for the UN Assembly to act before asking the authority of Congress to employ the armed forces of the United States in support of the UN resolution. It may be contended that our armed forces are already in Korea upon an order of the President and that no ratification by Congress is necessary, but because of the many involved legal precedents a resolution by Congress would stem desirable.

One reason for the passage of a formal resolution recognizing a state of war with one faction of China would be to acquire an entirely new setup in any future peace terms in the Far East. Likewise, the present Nationalist government in China would become a co-belligerent with the UN in fighting the Communist faction which purports to represent the Chinese people.

The ultimate result of the procedure could be to bring about free elections, uncoerced by the military, and an entirely new setup in China when Communism has been crushed.

The moment the United States puts forth a definite and positive program which reveals that it will carry on relentlessly against the Communist Chinese unless they retreat from Korea, the entire situation will be clarified and a large-scale ground war in that part of the world will probably be averted. It is a time for resoluteness and not for timidity and there are signs that President Truman is well aware of the desire of the average man in America to protect the armed forces already committed in Korea, and to obtain redress from the Chinese faction which has dared to attack UN forces in defiance of world opinion.

These Days By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The Chinese Communists

TO grasp the enormous forces of the Chinese Communists it is necessary to go back into their history.

In 1919, students in Shanghai and Peking determined that China would never sign the Paris Peace Treaty which recognized Japan's rights in Shantung. A students' strike was organized which soon spread to a general strike, encompassing the entire nation. It was a normal response of patriotic youth to the betrayal of their country, an ally, by the statesmen at Versailles. In my book, "The Tinderbox in Asia," published in 1932, I wrote:

". . . I do not recall a single instance of a student expressing antagonism to Russia. I do remember numerous expressions of a desire to visit Russia to discover there the process of freeing China from imperialism as Russia was being freed from imperialism. . ."

Sun Yat-Sen was curious about Soviet Russia not because of its social and political theories but because the Russians had succeeded in pushing out the Westerners. Hundreds, perhaps even thousands of Chinese students trekked to Soviet Russia to see for themselves. In Russia they encountered no racial attitudes of any kind. The Anglo-Saxon superiority which these students had known in Shanghai, Hongkong, Canton, Hankow and even Peking, did not exist.

By 1920, the Young Socialist Association and the secretariat of the Chinese Communist party, which in 1950 has had an uninterrupted, militant existence of 30 years, China was actually represented at the Baku Congress of Nations in September, 1920, presided over by Zinoviev, president of the Third International. Li Ta-Chao was the Chinese member. At the second Congress of the Third International, he reported that China was fully prepared for a Communist movement. "China was refused everything at the peace conference," he said. The first Congress of the Chinese Communist Party was held in 1922.

Michael Borodin, an American Communist in the service of Russia, was made adviser to Sun by agreement with Russia in 1924. The process of infiltration was then worked out experimentally along these lines:

"Dr. Sun and Borodin settled the policy of the Kuomintang on the basis of a threefold thesis: 1. Cooperation between the Kuomintang and the Chinese Communist party; 2. Cooperation between Nationalist China and Soviet Russia; 3. support of the Labourers and Peasants movement. Dr. Sun agreed that members of the Chinese Communist party could become members of the Kuomintang as individuals. Thus the ranks of the Kuomintang were swelled by a new membership, which numerically was larger than the former non-communistic membership. Many of the older Kuomintang leaders were opposed to swamping the party in this manner, but none, at the beginning, dared to oppose Dr. Sun."

One of the most significant agencies of Communist control, established during this period, was the Whampo Military Academy, of which Chiang Kai-Shek was the head, and the Russian, General Galensbluecher, the principal Russian instructor. This school was modelled upon the Red Army schools founded by Leon Trotsky. Russian instructors, drillmasters and technical experts were sent to Whampoa to produce the new officers of China's Red Army.

An event occurred on May 30, 1945, which gave the revolution its springboard. In the course of a strike in a Japanese-owned cotton mill in Shanghai, a Sikh policeman in the International settlement shot at a Chinese worker.

The Communists seized the incident to develop a widespread anti-British movement which took on the characteristics of a general strike. By exploiting anti-foreignism, they tied the hands of the conservative elements in the country. They were able to organize labor and students unions and to start the actual civil war under the leadership of Borodin and Chiang.

The relations between Borodin and Chiang had become extremely antagonistic during the Christmas week of 1926. Chiang escaped to Shanghai, where he began to organize the Nationalist government at Nanking, thus preventing Communist control of China as far back as 1927, but the Communist army, trained by Russians, continued its operations as a guerrilla force.

In 1932, I wrote:

". . . My experience in Russia during the Communist revolution confirms the opinion that such a revolution can only succeed if any important units of the army are willing to join the Communists. In present circumstances in China it is possible to believe that a large section of the army will go over if the Communists win a decisive victary."

Three More Candidates File Expense Accounts

Three candidates for office in the November 7 election filed expense accounts yesterday in the office o Clerk of Circuit Court Joseph E Boden.

Paul M. Fletcher, successful Republican aspirant for state's attorney, listed expenses of $562.76 and contributions of $150.

Leslie J. Clark, unsuccessful in his bid for House of Delegates on the Democratic ticket, had receipts of $70 and expenses of $398.41.

Another Democratic House of Delegates candidate who was defeated, W. Ewald Ruehl, listed expenses of $358.62 and no contributions.

Vacancies Still Exist In Army Reserve Unit

Vacancies still exist in the 372nd Military Police Escort Guard Company, Organized Army Reserves corps, according to the commanding officer, Capt. Leslie J. Clark.

The unit is located at Lonaconing where meetings are held Fridays at 7:30 p. m., Capt. Clark announced

Capt. Clark stated that those wishing to enlist may contact him at nights at his Lonaconing home; by calling his office in the Liberty Trust building here, or by attending the Friday night drill in the Lonaconing VFW Home.

Washington Pipeline

Gen. Bedell Smith, able ex-ambassador to Russia, told Cabinet and Congressional leaders last week that we can never hope to defeat Soviet Russia by manpower. "The only way to subdue the Russians while she continues to snipe at us through her satellites is by continued propaganda to get the truth behind the iron curtain—and where that fails, counter-revolutions in the small countries the Soviet has enslaved," declared General Smith. . . . There is a move among Democratic senators to replace General MacArthur with General Marshall on the ground that the Chinese knew Marshall when he was ambassador to China. . . . . More than 1,400 tons of food, arms and clothing have been dropped by airplane to our stranded Marines and infantry in Northeast Korea. Despite this, Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, has informed the White House that he doesn't know how long the stranded troops will be able to hold out.

By AUSTINE

MR. ARTIE SHAW tooted his clarinet in Constitution Hall two Sundays ago. . . Not a single Congressman protested. . . Not one D. A. R. . . However, many of the Capital's ladies who have been working their fingers to the bone for the National Symphony are planning to protest. . . They would like to find out who arranged for Mr. Artie Shaw's concert appearance under the auspices of the National Symphony at Constitution Hall.

AUSTINE

The music lovers and the cultured upper classes in the capital have been asked and asked for money to support the hard-up National Symphony, and begged to attend the concerts.

Not many of them are furious. . . And would certainly rather spend their hard-earned American dollars to hear and support other deserving artists. . . Not Mr. Artie.

They feel that any man who rates pages and pages in the files of the un-American Activities Committee does not rate their applause and money. . . They would like to know just why and at whose suggestion Mr. Shaw was appearing anyway?

The data the un-American Activities Committee has gathered on Mr. Shaw's background would take more space than I have room for. A sample should suffice:

Their files say that he was a sponsor of the Civil Rights Congress, cited as subversive and communistic by Attorney General Clark.

That he was vice chairman of the New York Council for Arts, Sciences and Professions. . . That group was cited as a front organization by the House Committee on un-American Activities.

That he was a member of the National-Wallace-for-President Committee.

That he was a sponsor of the American Peace Mobilization . . . The American Peace Mobilization was cited as subversive and communistic by Attorney General.

That he was reported as having fun as a member of the Communist party in the divorce petition filed by his wife, Kathleen Winsor.

That he was a sponsor of the Committee for a Democratic Far-Eastern Policy, cited as a Communist front by the California Committee on un-American Activities.

This is only a small part of the long file the House un-American Activities Committee has on Mr. Artie Shaw's activities in the past few years.

Now I ask you, with top billing like that in their reports why should he get top billing with our National Symphony?

The publicity releases sent out to plug him, I noticed, said that "he is devoting all of his time to serious music."

I guess that's supposed to mean he has given up serious political tie-ups — also given up serious women like Kathleen Winsor, Lana Turner and Ava Gardner, to mention a few of his former wives.

Virginia Representative's son, Howard Worth Smith, Jr., and his honey-blond wife, get teased time and again. They're still acting like honeymooners and would rather dance together than eat . . . . Also waltzing at Chevy Chase Club the other evening, I bumped into flower-pretty Muriel Maddox. She has skipped from D. C. deb to successful Hollywood actress in the last few years. . . . And shaking up a mean rhumba were former head of the National Security Resources Board, Arthur Hill, and his Jerry. . . . She's never looked better since her return home for hospitalization from a Paris vacation.

Radio correspondent, Rudy Block, walked out of Building T-5 down near the Washington Monument and a tourist-looking lady asked him, "What buildings are these?" . . . He said deadpan, "These are temporary buildings that are here permanently."

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

DRAMATIZE your best features and you will immediately increase your charm quotient. And no matter how large or small share of natural beauty is yours, one feature is sure to surpass all others.

It may be an especially alluring mouth, a finely sculptured nose or arresting eyes, but if you are overlooking this best feature or treating it as commonplace, you are squandering your beauty. Can you afford such waste?

No Beauty Wasted

Even the loveliest of exquisite Powers Girls would never be so careless, so unconcerned or self-satisfied as to dissipate the smallest item in her stock of beauty. Instead, every professional beauty studies and works to multiply every asset she was lucky enough to inherit.

Before you check over your features one by one, give a moment's special consideration to your eyes. Too few women understand the power and the glory their eyes would hold if they would just intensify the color strikingly.

Just so simple a thing as the colors you wear can heighten and spotlight the intensity of your eyes —or dim it down to a nondescript shade. Which do you choose?

Here's how you can get a twinkle, a sparkle, or even fireworks!

Flatter Your Eyes

Green, gray and blue eyes are enlivened by clothing colors and shades that match or are of greater intensity than the color of the eyes. If you have seen the new royal blue reflected in a pair of clear blue eyes, you know exactly what I mean.

Brown eyes, from amber to the flashing black, take an allure and depth contrasted against such shades as the new orange and violet hues.

The hazel-eyed girl has the edge on everyone else. Strong, deep colors can change the color of her eyes every time she changes her dress! If you have those eyes and have always thought of them as of an indeterminate color, look again!

Matter Of Fact

Europeans with fear. These facts indicate that the Soviet Union will, in effect, be ready to commit major aggression before we can possibly be ready to repel aggression.

Furthermore, no policy-maker in his senses any longer doubts that overt aggression by the Red Army itself is what the future probably holds. Yugoslavia is the greatest European danger spot; Iran in the Middle East is almost as critical, and there are other possibilities. Worse still, no policy-maker in his senses any longer excludes the possibility that this overt full scale action by the Red Army, which must lead to general war or Western surrender, will come next Spring, instead of a year later.

Such is the balance sheet, understanding of which is a necessary prelude to action. Its meaning is clear. Only the wisest and most energetic action can now save this nation and the free world from the fate which at length overtook the Athenians, when the Spartans, another iron military race, triumphed in the Acropolis itself.

Court Of Claims Rules For Ex-GI

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The court of claims ruled that an American soldier, captured at the fall of Wake island in December, 1941, is entitled to a government subsistence and quarters allowance of $2.35 to $3.50 a day for the 44 months he was held prisoner by the Japanese.

The ruling means more than 3,000 to Carl W. Dilks, who was a sergeant in the 18th Bomb Wing at the time of his capture. He was one of a detachment of men sent from Hawaii to Wake shortly before the outbreak of the war.

The court ruled that, at the time of his capture, Dilks was entitled to a monetary allowance of $2.35 a day in lieu of quarters and rations. The rate of such allowances was raised to $3.50 a day during his captivity.

After his capture, he was required by the Japanese to work as a motorcycle mechanic for 15 sen a day. At that time the sen was equal to one American penny.

You must go on living day to day, but you cannot go on . . . without hope. If there is not hope, then we would all lie down and expire.—Poet and playwright T. S. Eliot.

Why Thousands of Doctors Prescribe

PERTUSSIN for BAD COUGHS

(DUE TO COLDS)

Safe! Effective For Entire Family

Thousands of doctors prescribe PERTUSSIN to promptly relieve such coughs. Relief often comes with the first few spoonfuls of this famous modern cough medicine! PERTUSSIN not only relieves coughing, but actually increases natural secretions in the respiratory tract to loosen and 'cut' the sticky phlegm, making it easier to raise. And when phlegm is easy to raise, your cough should become less severe. PERTUSSIN contains no harmful ingredients of any kind. Pleasant-tasting! Inexpensive!

Court Of Claims Rules For Ex-GI

WASHINGTON, (AP)—The court of claims ruled that an American soldier, captured at the fall of Wake island in December, 1941, is entitled to a government subsistence and quarters allowance of $2.35 to $3.50 a day for the 44 months he was held prisoner by the Japanese.

The ruling means more than 3,000 to Carl W. Dilks, who was a sergeant in the 18th Bomb Wing at the time of his capture. He was one of a detachment of men sent from Hawaii to Wake shortly before the outbreak of the war.

The court ruled that, at the time of his capture, Dilks was entitled to a monetary allowance of $2.35 a day in lieu of quarters and rations. The rate of such allowances was raised to $3.50 a day during his captivity.

After his capture, he was required by the Japanese to work as a motorcycle mechanic for 15 sen a day. At that time the sen was equal to one American penny.

You must go on living day to day, but you cannot go on . . . without hope. If there is not hope, then we would all lie down and expire.—Poet and playwright T. S. Eliot.

Why Thousands of Doctors Prescribe

Safe! Effective For Entire Family

Thousands of doctors prescribe PERTUSSIN to promptly relieve such coughs. Relief often comes with the first few spoonfuls of this famous modern cough medicine! PERTUSSIN not only relieves coughing, but actually increases natural secretions in the respiratory tract to loosen and 'cut' the sticky phlegm, making it easier to raise. And when phlegm is easy to raise, your cough should become less severe. PERTUSSIN contains no harmful ingredients of any kind. Pleasant-tasting! Inexpensive!

Lions' Yule Tree Sale To Feature Bargain Prices

Annual Event Planned At Fort Hill Stadium

Christmas trees at bargain prices. That's the novel approach planned by the Cumberland Lions Club at its annual tree sale at Fort Hill Stadium Saturday and Sunday, December 16 and 17, from noon until 5 p. m.

The Lions Club has held Christmas tree sales for some years but this year is handling it on an entirely different basis.

About 5,000 trees in sizes from four feet to ten feet will be laid out in the stadium and buyers may enter, select their tree, and take it to the gate where they pay for it.

There will be just two prices—one for trees up to six feet and another price for those up to ten feet. The Lions, in view of the low tree prices, hope that people will come from a distance to purchase them.

While the Lions Club will take no responsibility for delivery, there will be a local truckman stationed outside the gate and arrangements may be made with him at a reasonable fee to have the trees delivered in or out of town.

Proceeds from this year's sale will go for the benefit of the Childrens' Christmas Party.

The club will entertain about 200 children from various schools in the city at a Christmas party December 20. Some of the funds will be devoted to the club's year-round project of furnishing eye examinations and glasses to children needing them; and to the Overlea School For The Blind for the education of blind children from Allegany county.

Club officials said "it is hoped that the people of the city and county will support this good work by buying their trees at this sale and at the same time obtain a bargain."

The origin of the sweet potato is not definitely known.

START MEMBERSHIP DRIVE — H. Clifford Spiker, president of the Fort Hill Boosters' Club, (seated) is shown here handing Ralph J. Thuss, and James K. Moreland, new membership cards as the club starts its annual drive for enrollments. Thuss and Moreland are the first members to receive their 1951 Boosters Club membership identification cards.

New Fire Truck To Be Tested Here Tomorrow

Cumberland's new $13,000 fire truck will undergo tests of the National Fire Underwriters Association tomorrow at 9:30 a. m., at Blue Bridge.

Acting Fire Chief William L. Lindner said a two-hour test will be held on the capacity of 750 gallons of water per minute. Two other tests are planned under the supervision of Al Busch, representative of the Mack Truck Corporation of Philadelphia.

Lindner said the tests will be staged regardless of weather conditions. All area volunteer firemen are invited to attend.

Road tests are being made daily, Lindner added.

Dividend Declared By Liberty Trust

Directors of the Liberty Trust Company Tuesday declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 35 cents per share plus 10 cents a share. The dividend is payable January 10, 1951 to stockholders of record December 27, 1950.

This makes a total of 80 cents per share paid out of earnings for 1950. It is equivalent to eight per cent on the $10 par value of the trust company's capital stock.

CONTINUOUS QUALITY CONTINUOUS PRICE

Today, as always, you can buy Coca-Cola for 5¢ a bottle, 25¢ a carton and $1.00 a case. Our dealers can still sell Coke for these prices because our wholesale price has remained unchanged year after year.

Our production and distribution costs, like those of everyone else, have greatly increased over the last decade. Through your ever-increasing patronage, however, our sales volume has grown tremendously, too. The economies that result from this large volume of business are the main reason why we can still maintain our customary wholesale price.

We hope that you will continue to choose Coca-Cola as your favorite refreshment. And we hope that you will always be able to buy a bottle of Coke for 5¢.

Number Of Parking Tickets Nearly Treble This Month

Two and one-half times more parking tickets were handed out by the City Police Department during the past month than in November, 1949.

The Police Traffic Enforcement report of Lt. E. R. Lilya, head of the Traffic Division, was released yesterday by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Local police tagged 813 cars in the 30 days this year while in the similar period last year 337 violators were caught.

State Violations Up

The number of state motor vehicle law violations increased also,—from five last year to 25 this November.

Drunken driving cases remained the same, for the two Novembers, two each, while 17 motorists were arrested last month for violation of City Ordinance 1530, (careless driving, speeding, traffic lights, etc.) and 14 the November of 1949.

The breakdown of November, 1950, violations is as follows: Drunken driving, two; reckless driving, 14; license violations, eight; leaving scene of accident, two; City Ordinance 1530,—speeding, seven; careless driving, (accidents), five, and traffic lights and stop sign violations, eight.

Nine pedestrian - car accidents were reported; 14 collisions between two cars, and five, cars with fixed objects.

Most On Monday

Most of the accidents during November occurred on Monday, seven; Thursday and Friday were the next most dangerous days with five each. Wednesday and Saturday had four, Tuesday, two, and Sunday, one.

The West Side had the largest number of accidents, ten. North End was next with eight. Central business district and South End had four while East Side only had two.

Damage from these accidents during November amounted to $3,610, the collision report stated, while only three persons were injured.

West Side School PTA Hears Religious Talks

The "Importance of Religious Education" was discussed Tuesday night at a meeting of the West Side School Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Robert H. Mann was chairman.

Others taking part were Rabbi Herbert Wilner of B'er Chayim Congregation; Rev. Robert O. Hopkins of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and Rev. Norman O. Scribner of Centre Street Methodist Church.

The Allegany High School Octet under the direction of Miss Joyce Bestwick sang. Miss Carole Reith was the accompanist.

The association voted to contribute $10 to the national PTA building fund.

C. Of C. Plans Luncheon Meeting Tomorrow

The Membership Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce made final plans for a luncheon meeting for tomorrow at noon at Central YMCA during a session at the Chamber office yesterday.

William L. Wilson, Jr., is chairman of the membership group and the program will be presented by the Civic Improvement Committee, Robert Little Ebert, chairman. According to an earlier announcement, traffic and parking will be the subject for discussion.

Number Of Parking Tickets Nearly Treble This Month

Two and one-half times more parking tickets were handed out by the City Police Department during the past month than in November, 1949.

The Police Traffic Enforcement report of Lt. E. R. Lilya, head of the Traffic Division, was released yesterday by Police and Fire Commissioner John J. Long.

Local police tagged 813 cars in the 30 days this year while in the similar period last year 337 violators were caught.

State Violations Up

The number of state motor vehicle law violations increased also,—from five last year to 25 this November.

Drunken driving cases remained the same, for the two Novembers, two each, while 17 motorists were arrested last month for violation of City Ordinance 1530, (careless driving, speeding, traffic lights, etc.) and 14 the November of 1949.

The breakdown of November, 1950, violations is as follows: Drunken driving, two; reckless driving, 14; license violations, eight; leaving scene of accident, two; City Ordinance 1530,—speeding, seven; careless driving, (accidents), five, and traffic lights and stop sign violations, eight.

Nine pedestrian - car accidents were reported; 14 collisions between two cars, and five, cars with fixed objects.

Most On Monday

Most of the accidents during November occurred on Monday, seven; Thursday and Friday were the next most dangerous days with five each. Wednesday and Saturday had four, Tuesday, two, and Sunday, one.

The West Side had the largest number of accidents, ten. North End was next with eight. Central business district and South End had four while East Side only had two.

Damage from these accidents during November amounted to $3,610, the collision report stated, while only three persons were injured.

West Side School PTA Hears Religious Talks

The "Importance of Religious Education" was discussed Tuesday night at a meeting of the West Side School Parent-Teacher Association. Mrs. Robert H. Mann was chairman.

Others taking part were Rabbi Herbert Wilner of B'er Chayim Congregation; Rev. Robert O. Hopkins of St. Mary's Catholic Church, and Rev. Norman O. Scribner of Centre Street Methodist Church.

The Allegany High School Octet under the direction of Miss Joyce Bestwick sang. Miss Carole Reith was the accompanist.

The association voted to contribute $10 to the national PTA building fund.

C. Of C. Plans Luncheon Meeting Tomorrow

The Membership Activities Committee of the Chamber of Commerce made final plans for a luncheon meeting for tomorrow at noon at Central YMCA during a session at the Chamber office yesterday.

William L. Wilson, Jr., is chairman of the membership group and the program will be presented by the Civic Improvement Committee, Robert Little Ebert, chairman. According to an earlier announcement, traffic and parking will be the subject for discussion.

B & O Reports Revenue Freight On Increase

Revenue freight handled on the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad during November, 1950, totaled 257,907 cars or 42,886 more than the 215,021 cars handled during November, 1949, the railroad announced yesterday.

All principal commodities except grain noted increases. Grain showed a loss of 1,254 cars.

However, the railroad reported that revenue freight handlings during the week ended December 2 were below both the previous week and the corresponding week of 1949. Heavy snowstorms which blanketed the coal and steel producing regions were blamed. Last week 44,366 cars were handled, compared with 53,237 during the same week of last year and 61,305 cars during the week which ended November 25.

B & O Offers Low Rate To Military Personnel

Reduced fare tickets for military personnel on leave during the Christmas-New Year holiday will be sold by the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad between December 15 and January 10 with a final return limit of January 15, according to an announcement yesterday..

These special round-trip fares have been authorized on a basis of one and one-fifth of one way fares in coaches. These fares will be good in coaches only between all stations on the B & O and connecting railroads throughout the country.

Don't be HALF-SAFE
by VALDA SHERMAN

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will—if they reach your dress—cause ugly stains and clinging odor

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches—and ruins—your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely—keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact—prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin—safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk your happiness with half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid today—only 39¢ plus tax.

SHARPSHOOTER—Marine Private First Class Donald C. Carns, 314 Dorn Avenue, this city, climaxed training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot by winning the silver cross badge of Marine Sharpshooter and receiving a promotion to his present rank. In addition to the Garand rifle with which he scored as sharpshooter, he fired other infantry weapons such as the .45 caliber pistol, the carbine, and the Browning automatic rifle.

Local Firm Wins Advertising Honor

A citation for distinguished service through advertising was made yesterday to Albert's Super Market, Inc., of Cumberland, at the annual mid-year meeting in Houston, Tex., of the Super Market Institute, national organization of super markets in the United States, Canada and Mexico.

The company's advertisement was selected in a nationwide competition to receive honorable mention in the second annual McCall Super Market Advertising Award from among those submitted by 116 companies operating 2,390 stores in all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Many mysterious changes take place in your body as you mature. Now, the glands under your arms begin to secrete daily a new type of perspiration containing substances which will—if they reach your dress—cause ugly stains and clinging odor

You'll face this problem throughout womanhood. It's not enough merely to stop the odor of this perspiration. You must now use a deodorant that stops the perspiration itself before it reaches—and ruins—your clothes.

As doctors know, not all deodorants stop both perspiration and odor. But Arrid does! It's been proved that the new cream deodorant Arrid stops underarm perspiration 1 to 3 days safely—keeps underarms dry and sweet.

Remember this, too. Arrid's antiseptic action kills odor on contact—prevents formation of odor up to 48 hours and keeps you "shower-bath" fresh. And it's safe for skin—safe for fabrics.

So, don't be half-safe. Don't risk your happiness with half-safe deodorants. Be Arrid-safe! Use Arrid to be sure. Arrid with Creamogen will not dry out, and it's so pleasant and easy to apply. Get Arrid today—only 39¢ plus tax.

New Bill Calls For State Constitutional Convention

A bill to set up the machinery for the calling of a convention to rewrite Maryland's 83-year-old constitution was drawn up last night in Baltimore by a sub-committee of the Legislative Council.

If approved by the full council—interim committee of the General Assembly—the bill will be introduced during the 1951 session of the legislature.

Voters at a referendum November 7 overwhelmingly approved the calling of a convention to draw up a constitution to replace the present much amended one.

Under the subcommittee's plan, this would be the calendar of principal events:

June 1, 1951—Effective date of the new law providing for election of delegates and assembling of the convention.

Election In June

June 8, 1951—Final date for filing by candidates for delegate to the convention.

June 26, 1951—Special election to choose the delegates.

September 10, 1951—First session of the convention.

April 2, 1952—Special referendum to submit a new convention or revision of the present one to the voters.

Election of delegates would be on a non-partisan basis.

The delegates would have about five months to complete their work before the General Assembly met in February, 1952.

This would leave another two months for publicizing the proposed constitutional changes before the referendum.

Under the present constitution, each county and Baltimore City legislative district would have as many convention delegates as it has members in the General Assembly.

Some Would Be Barred

Other provisions in the proposed bill:

1—Delegates would have to be at least 21 years of age, residents of Maryland for three years, and of their subdivision for one year.

2—Members of the General Assembly and of the judiciary would be eligible to serve as delegates.

3—Ministers, civil officers, military officers and certain others would be barred, as they are now barred from membership in the legislature.

4—Delegates would be paid $20 a day.

5—An appropriation of $350,000 for convention expenses would be made.

A separate joint resolution is to be drafted as a companion measure to the convention bill. It would provide for appointment by the Governor of a 15-member commission to do spade work for the convention before it meets.

We must also hope that the forces of the free people of the world will not become too deeply involved in the Far East because the dangers there are on a very small scale compared to those which tower up against us on the continent of Europe. — Winston Churchill.

SLOCUM EXPLAINS HOW—Coach Art Slocum explains some of the finer points of the game as the the LaSalle High School Explorers prep for their basketball opener tomorrow night with Bruce High of Westernport. Game time is 8 o'clock on the SS. Peter and Paul court. Looking on are the five scheduled starters for the Explorers. Reading left to right are Slocum (holding ball), Doug Connolly, Marty Mullaney, Jimmy Moran, Paul Ackerman (partially hidden) and Don Farrell. Connolly and Mullaney were named co-captains for the opening game.

LaSalle Preps For Season's Cage Opener

Slocum Quint To Meet Bruce Here

Coach Art Slocum's LaSalle High School cagers preped for tomorrow's opening basketball clash with Bruce High of Westernport with a strong workout yesterday on the SS. Peter and Paul court.

The Explorers will play host to Coach "Woody" Woodson's Blue and White five on the local court with game time set for 8 p. m.

Bruce defeated LaSalle last season by a 32-30 score. This also will be the initial game for the Westernporters.

A preliminary is scheduled for 7 o'clock between jayvee teams of both schools.

Clifton Van Roby and William Orndorff will officiate, Brother Joseph, athletic moderator of LaSalle, announced last night.

Other district games slated for tomorrow are Franklin at Monterey (Va.) and Capon Bridge at Strasburg (Va.)

Upsets Mark Miami Match

Snead-Ferrier Win Easy Golf Victory

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6 (AP)—Six favored teams fell by the wayside in the opening round of the $10,000 Miami international four-ball golf tournament today but the top seeded duo of Sam Snead and Jim Ferrier breezed to an easy 4 and 3 victory over Willie Klein and Eldon Briggs.

Biggest upset among the 32 teams of professionals completing in the grueling five-day test was the 5 and 4 triumph by John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Jack Shields, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, over Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Jack Burke, Jr., Houston, Tex.

The Barnum-Shields team was nine under par for 14 holes of golf. They fired an amazing six under par best ball 30 on the front side of the 6,347-yard Miami Country Club course and were three under par for five holes and the back side. Barnum sank a 90-yard approach shot for an eagle two on the second hole and sank putts of 3, 10, 4, 15 and 18 feet to college six birdies.

Underdogs Gene Kune, Hollywood, Fla., and Steve Warga, Miami, squeezed a one-up victory over the favored team of Bob Hamilton, Lanover, Md., and Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich.

Al Besselink, former University of Miami amateur star now of Royal Oak, Mich., and former Miami policeman Earl Christiansen teamed to upset the highly favored team of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, St. Andrews, Ill., and Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., one up. Christiansen closed out the match on the 18th green as he carded a birdie-four.

Bob Ward Receives Williams Trophy

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 6 (AP)—University of Maryland guard Bob Ward was named tonight by the Norfolk Sports Club the outstanding player in the Southern Conference area and winner of the Leigh Williams Memorial Trophy award.

The Williams trophy will be presented to Ward Dec. 12 at the club's annual football jamboree at the Monticello Hotel.

Ward, selected to the Associated Press All-America team, is the first lineman to be honored by the sports club. The three previous awards went to backfield performers.

The first Williams trophy went to Wake Forest's blocking back, Nick Ognovich, in 1946; North Carolina's All-America tailback, Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, received the trophy in 1947; and Buddy Shoaf, Virginia halfback, was accorded the honor last year.

California Blasts Frostburg, 77-53

State Drops Second Straight Cage Tilt

FROSTBURG, Dec. 6 — California (Pa.) State Teachers blasted the nets for 31 field goals and 15 fouls to wallop the Frostburg State Teachers quint here tonight by a 77-53 count. It was Frostburg's second straight loss.

O'Hara and Gray paced the victors with 21 and 14 points respectively while Heycock and Kennedy each had 12. Drummond "Scotty" Orr and Ray Ralston had 13 and 11 markers for the losers.

The locals kept pace with California for the first two periods trailing 16-13 and 34-31 at the quarters, but a 23 point splurge in the third stanza put the visitors far ahead, 57-39, at the end of the stanza.

The game was rough with the two teams totaling 67 tries at the foul line with Frostburg having a 19-15 edge.

Frostburg will play its next contest Saturday at 3 p. m. when it plays host to Gallaudet Junior College. The lineups:

Shoemaker Escapes Injury In Spill On Hollywood Track

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 6 (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker had a narrow brush with serious injury in a spill in the first race at Hollywood Park today and the fall put him on the sidelines for the remainder of the afternoon.

The youngster, the leading winner at the meeting here and runner-up to Joe Culmone for 1950 national honors, was thrown when his mount, Pension Plan, bolted in the home stretch while leading the race.

Shoemaker was tossed to the track and then into the infield. He landed on his hands and face and flipped out of danger just as the horse's hind heels hit the turf where he had been.

Shoemaker, given a cheer as he walked away, was ordered off his six other mounts of the day on the advice of the track physician.

Stadium, SERC, Ruth's Triumph In Shuffle Loop

Stadium Inn, South End Republican Club and Ruth's Tavern scored 3-0 victories last night in the ladies national shuffleboard league while the Moose ladies and Jimmy's Tavern copped 2-1 decisions.

Stadium trounced Pocahontas, Jimmy's bested Cresap Tavern, Ruth's blasted Clingerman's, Moose edged Woodmen of the World, and SERC hung it on Veterans of Foreign Wars.

High scorers for the evening were Thelma Joyce, SERC, 25; H. Bujac, VFW, 15; Willard Auvil, WOW, 28; Esther Roberson and M. Styvestant, Moose, 18 each; L. Liller, Pocahontas, 18; D. Army Elects Third End As Captain

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—Harold J. Loehlein of Kimball, Minn., was elected captain of the 1951 Army football team today.

The 6-foot, 1 inch, 200-pound defensive end is the third straight wingman to be elected.

Lt. John Trent, recently killed in action in Korea, held the honor in 1949 and Dan Foldberg, All-American this season, led the Cadets this fall.

Rams Top Pro Offense Team Records Show

Set 2 New Marks; Giants Have Defense

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, the most devastating offensive force in professional football history, have the National Football League's total offensive championship all wrapped up today even though one week of league football remains to be played.

The Rams ended their season with a victory over Green Bay Sunday. Records shows the Rams had gained 5,420 yards and had scored 466 points, both league records.

Here is a rundown on what the Rams did to their foes this season:

Recorded 278 first downs, gained 3,709 yards passing, gained 1,711 yards rushing, threw 453 passes, completed 253 for an average of 55.8 per cent, scored 64 touchdowns, kicked 59 extra points, seven field goals, and suffered 1,038 yards lost in penalties.

Every one of those figures except rushing yardage represents a first place position in the league standings.

The circuit rushing leader is Philadelphia with 2,222 yards. The New York Giants are second with 2,198 and the Chicago Bears third with 2,173.

Defensively, the Giants and Eagles hold the top position, the Giants on rushing and the Eagles against passing. New York held its opponents to 3.0 yards per rush and the Eagles allowed only 36.5 per cent accuracy in passes against them.

Saddler Upset By Flanagan

DETROIT, Dec. 6 (AP)—Courageous Del Flanagan of St. Paul scored a stunning upset tonight when he pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over featherweight champion Sandy Saddler in a non-title fight that was a roughhouse all the way.

Flanagan, a St. Paul lightweight and stablemate of Saddler's arch rival, former featherweight king Willie Pep, stunned a small turnout of 5,186 fans as he took a unanimous decision.

It was the 50th link in Flanagan's streak of pro fights without a loss and it practically earned him a shot at lightweight champion Ike Williams' title in January.

Spas Travel To Johnstown For League Contest Tonight

Game Time Is 8:15; 9 Players Make Trip

The Cumberland Spas professional basketball team will journey to Johnstown, Pa., tonight to do battle with the Johnstown Clippers in an All-American Pro Basketball League tilt. The game will be played in the Johnstown Central High School gym and will get underway at 8:15 p. m.

It will be the second meeting of the two clubs. Cumberland was returned the winner here last Sunday by a 70-65 score. The Clippers are a new entry in the six-club circuit.

Johnstown is sparked by Jimmy Atkins, former Altoona ace, George Karmakovich, Joe Camic and Jim Reynolds and coached by former cage great, Nat Hickey.

Coach Bill Keegan of the local club said the team will leave Cumberland by auto at 5 o'clock this evening. Nine players are scheduled to make the trip. They are Jim Clevenger, George Geatz, Lou Bell, Jim Fahey, Paul Oberhaus, Bob Pence, Ed Mathewson, Walter Orndorff, and Jack Murphy. Fahey, Mathewson and Murphy are newcomers to the Cumberland squad. Two local players, Owen and Thomas, will be unable to make the trip.

Mathewson was the star in the Spas opening victory over the Clippers, caging 33 points in the thrilling battle. The local club led all the way in the game but a late rally by Johnstown made the score close.

Cumberland will play its next home game on the SS. Peter and Paul court with a 9 p. m. tilt against the Wheeling Blues.

Upsets Mark Miami Match

Snead-Ferrier Win Easy Golf Victory

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6 (AP)—Six favored teams fell by the wayside in the opening round of the $10,000 Miami international four-ball golf tournament today but the top seeded duo of Sam Snead and Jim Ferrier breezed to an easy 4 and 3 victory over Willie Klein and Eldon Briggs.

Biggest upset among the 32 teams of professionals completing in the grueling five-day test was the 5 and 4 triumph by John Barnum, Grand Rapids, Mich., and Jack Shields, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, over Jimmy Demaret, Ojai, Calif., and Jack Burke, Jr., Houston, Tex.

The Barnum-Shields team was nine under par for 14 holes of golf. They fired an amazing six under par best ball 30 on the front side of the 6,347-yard Miami Country Club course and were three under par for five holes and the back side. Barnum sank a 90-yard approach shot for an eagle two on the second hole and sank putts of 3, 10, 4, 15 and 18 feet to college six birdies.

Underdogs Gene Kune, Hollywood, Fla., and Steve Warga, Miami, squeezed a one-up victory over the favored team of Bob Hamilton, Lanover, Md., and Chick Harbert, Northville, Mich.

Al Besselink, former University of Miami amateur star now of Royal Oak, Mich., and former Miami policeman Earl Christiansen teamed to upset the highly favored team of E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, St. Andrews, Ill., and Chandler Harper, Portsmouth, Va., one up. Christiansen closed out the match on the 18th green as he carded a birdie-four.

Bob Ward Receives Williams Trophy

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 6 (AP)—University of Maryland guard Bob Ward was named tonight by the Norfolk Sports Club the outstanding player in the Southern Conference area and winner of the Leigh Williams Memorial Trophy award.

The Williams trophy will be presented to Ward Dec. 12 at the club's annual football jamboree at the Monticello Hotel.

Ward, selected to the Associated Press All-America team, is the first lineman to be honored by the sports club. The three previous awards went to backfield performers.

The first Williams trophy went to Wake Forest's blocking back, Nick Ognovich, in 1946; North Carolina's All-America tailback, Charlie (Choo-Choo) Justice, received the trophy in 1947; and Buddy Shoaf, Virginia halfback, was accorded the honor last year.

Ward, a 23-year-old junior, comes from Elizabeth, N. J.

76-Year-Old Man Gets Large Buck On Dick's Ridge

Three-Day Allegany Co. Total Hits 116

A 76-year-old man bagged an 8-point, 145 pound buck yesterday on Dick's Ridge, Town Hill on the third day of Allegany County's six-day deer hunting season.

B. M. Hinkle, RFD No. 2, city, reported the kill to Graydon Dunlap at Shipway's Inn. It was on of six Allegany County kills reported at the Inn, Dunlap stated.

A total of 23 deer were reported slain at the three checking stations for Allegany county. In addition to the six at Shipway's Inn, six were checked at Lewis' Grocery, Oldtown, and 11 at LaVale Barracks, Maryland State Police. Two Garrett County kills were also inspected at the LaVale Barracks.

This brought the three-day toll of deer slain in the county to 116.

Nine of the bucks were brought down on Town Hill and five on Green Ridge. Seven Cumberlanders were credited with kills.

Largest buck of the day was that slain by Fred Miller, RFD No. 2, city, who brought down a 12-point, 170-pounder at Rocky Gap.

One of the state police checks revealed that Walter J. Settle, 113 Federal Street, city, got his 4-point, 100-pound buck Monday.

The two Garrett County kills were credited to Clarence Grady, 338 Virginia Avenue, city, with a 6-point, 120-pounder at Meadow Mountain and George L. Perkins, RD No. 1, Frostburg, who killed an 8-point, 120-pound buck, also on Meadow Mountain.

Shoemaker Escapes Injury In Spill On Hollywood Track

INGLEWOOD, Calif., Dec. 6 (AP) — Jockey Willie Shoemaker had a narrow brush with serious injury in a spill in the first race at Hollywood Park today and the fall put him on the sidelines for the remainder of the afternoon.

The youngster, the leading winner at the meeting here and runner-up to Joe Culmone for 1950 national honors, was thrown when his mount, Pension Plan, bolted in the home stretch while leading the race.

Shoemaker was tossed to the track and then into the infield. He landed on his hands and face and flipped out of danger just as the horse's hind heels hit the turf where he had been.

Shoemaker, given a cheer as he walked away, was ordered off his six other mounts of the day on the advice of the track physician.

Stadium, SERC, Ruth's Triumph In Shuffle Loop

Stadium Inn, South End Republican Club and Ruth's Tavern scored 3-0 victories last night in the ladies national shuffleboard league while the Moose ladies and Jimmy's Tavern copped 2-1 decisions.

Stadium trounced Pocahontas, Jimmy's bested Cresap Tavern, Ruth's blasted Clingerman's, Moose edged Woodmen of the World, and SERC hung it on Veterans of Foreign Wars.

High scorers for the evening were Thelma Joyce, SERC, 25; H. Bujac, VFW, 15; Willard Auvil, WOW, 28; Esther Roberson and M. Styvestant, Moose, 18 each; L. Liller, Pocahontas, 18; D. Rice, Stadium Inn, 29; Jean Flynn, Cresap Tavern, 29; Alice Small, Jimmy's Tavern, 23; Ruth Durkin, Ruth's 23; and B. Gleason, Clingerman's, 15.

Army Elects Third End As Captain

WEST POINT, N. Y., Dec. 6 (AP)—Harold J. Loehlein of Kimball, Minn., was elected captain of the 1951 Army football team today.

The 6-foot, 1 inch, 200-pound defensive end is the third straight wingman to be elected.

Lt. John Trent, recently killed in action in Korea, held the honor in 1949 and Dan Foldberg, All-American this season, led the Cadets this fall.

Rams Top Pro Offense Team Records Show

Set 2 New Marks; Giants Have Defense

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 6 (AP) — The Los Angeles Rams, the most devastating offensive force in professional football history, have the National Football League's total offensive championship all wrapped up today even though one week of league football remains to be played.

The Rams ended their season with a victory over Green Bay Sunday. Records shows the Rams had gained 5,420 yards and had scored 466 points, both league records.

Here is a rundown on what the Rams did to their foes this season:

Recorded 278 first downs, gained 3,709 yards passing, gained 1,711 yards rushing, threw 453 passes, completed 253 for an average of 55.8 per cent, scored 64 touchdowns, kicked 59 extra points, seven field goals, and suffered 1,038 yards lost in penalties.

Every one of those figures except rushing yardage represents a first place position in the league standings.

The circuit rushing leader is Philadelphia with 2,222 yards. The New York Giants are second with 2,198 and the Chicago Bears third with 2,173.

Defensively, the Giants and Eagles hold the top position, the Giants on rushing and the Eagles against passing. New York held its opponents to 3.0 yards per rush and the Eagles allowed only 36.5 per cent accuracy in passes against them.

Saddler Upset By Flanagan

DETROIT, Dec. 6 (AP)—Courageous Del Flanagan of St. Paul scored a stunning upset tonight when he pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over featherweight champion Sandy Saddler in a non-title fight that was a roughhouse all the way.

Flanagan, a St. Paul lightweight and stablemate of Saddler's arch rival, former featherweight king Willie Pep, stunned a small turnout of 5,186 fans as he took a unanimous decision.

It was the 50th link in Flanagan's streak of pro fights without a loss and it practically earned him a shot at lightweight champion Ike Williams' title in January.

Anderson Reds' Trainer

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Dec. 6 (AP)—The Cincinnati Reds have signed Wayne Anderson, 33, as trainer to succeed Dr. Wilbur Bohn. Anderson was trainer at Sacramento of the Pacific Coast League for five years.

Three Yale Gridders Join North Squad

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Dec. 6 (AP)—Three Yale seniors were named today to play for the North football squad in the Shrine's crippled children's fund game against the Southern all-stars Christmas night in the Orange Bowl at Miami.

Chosen by Herman Hickman, the Yale coach who tutors the North squad, were quarterback Stu Tisdale, tackle Walt Clemens of New London, and Chuck Masters of Tulsa, Okla., a defensive center.

New Roanoke Pilot To Be Named Today

ST. PETERSBRG, Fla., Dec. 6 (AP) — The new manager of the Roanoke, Va., baseball club of the Class B. Piedmont League may be announced tomorrow.

Clark Wray, president at Roanoke, a Boston Red Sox minor league strongpoint, said today, "I won't know until tomorrow at the earliest who our new manager will be to replace Johnny (Red) Marion who has gone to Birmingham of the Southern Association."

Rocky Has Surgery

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP)—Rocky Graziano, former middleweight champion, today had a growth removed from his forehead in an operation at Columbus Hospital this morning.

Spas Travel To Johnstown For League Contest Tonight

Hurt in Accident

COACH for the Philadelphia Phillies, Allen (Dusty) Cooke, 43, was injured in an auto accident at Raleigh, N. C. His condition was reported as "fair." (International)

Game Time Is 8:15; 9 Players Make Trip

The Cumberland Spas professional basketball team will journey to Johnstown, Pa., tonight to do battle with the Johnstown Clippers in an All-American Pro Basketball League tilt. The game will be played in the Johnstown Central High School gym and will get underway at 8:15 p. m.

It will be the second meeting of the two clubs. Cumberland was returned the winner here last Sunday by a 70-65 score. The Clippers are a new entry in the six-club circuit.

Johnstown is sparked by Jimmy Atkins, former Altoona ace, George Karmakovich, Joe Camic and Jim Reynolds and coached by former cage great, Nat Hickey.

Coach Bill Keegan of the local club said the team will leave Cumberland by auto at 5 o'clock this evening. Nine players are scheduled to make the trip. They are Jim Clevenger, George Geatz, Lou Bell, Jim Fahey, Paul Oberhaus, Bob Pence, Ed Mathewson, Walter Orndorff, and Jack Murphy. Fahey, Mathewson and Murphy are newcomers to the Cumberland squad. Two local players, Owen and Thomas, will be unable to make the trip.

Mathewson was the star in the Spas opening victory over the Clippers, caging 33 points in the thrilling battle. The local club led all the way in the game but a late rally by Johnstown made the score close.

Cumberland will play its next home game on the SS. Peter and Paul court with a 9 p. m. tilt against the Wheeling Blues.

VFW Shufflers Oppose Stadium Inn, K. Of C. At Frostburg Legion

Stadium Inn (16-2) will visit the Cumberland Veterans of Foreign Wars (9-9) and Coach Lloyd "Buffalo" Collins' second place Cumberland Knights of Columbus (15-3) will oppose the third place Farrady Post, American Legion (13-5) at Frostburg in tonight's top matches in the Men's National Shuffleboard League of Allegany County.

Stadium Inn now leads the race by a half game.

Other matches on tap are:

Frostburg Moose (8-10) at Cumberland Amvets (7-11), Goodfellowship Club (9-9) at Mt. Savage VFW (6-12), Viaduct Inn (7-11) at Alhambra Club (10-8) and the Frostburg K. of C. (9-9) at the Frostburg Century Club (7-11).

The Clingerman's Restaurant (7-11)-Woodmen of the World match will be held tomorrow at the W.O.W. Home.

The parrot does not build a nest but lays its eggs in the soft dust that accumulates at the bottom of the trunks of decayed trees.

W. Va. Deer Kill Smaller This Year

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Dec. 6 (AP) — West Virginia deer hunters killed 736 animals in the second day of the 1950 season yesterday, the conservation commission reported.

The kill in Hancock County and Seneca state forest for the second day was not available.

The second-day bag brought to 1,543 the deer killed in the first two days, as reported to the commission. This compared with 3,410 for the first two days last year.

Deer Kill Large

CONCORD, N. H., Dec. 6 (AP)—The deer kill in New Hampshire today was running far ahead of last year To date, 2,512 kills were reported compared with 2,179 on last Dec. 6. The season closes the end of this month.

Officious Is Easy Winner At Tropical

Double Pays $338; Culmone Is Blanked

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6 (AP) — Fred W. Hooper's Officious, a two-time winner during the New York season, outclassed a field of eight two-year olds as he jogged to victory in the featured sixth event today before 5,755 at Tropical Park.

The black gelding carried Shelby Clark to a seven-length triumph over Mrs. S. Lewin's Sailing High, a 9 to 1 shot, and reeled off the six furlongs in 1.11 3-5.

Mrs. J. Purpura's In Taste, another outsider, was third, a head farther back, while Fiddle, with Joe Culmone up, was a dull fourth, much to the disappointment of form players.

Culmone, the nation's No. 1 rider with 361 to his credit, again failed to impress patrons here, he was shut out on five mounts, during the first six races of the afternoon.

Officious which paid $7.30, 4.60 and $4.40, was away well in the headliner and, after forcing the early pace set by Chall Wind, assumed command at the head of the stretch, then drew away with ease.

Besita, $11.50, with Willie Passmore up, outgamed Fashioned to account for the six-furlong fifth. Yazdegerd was third, Wodside, the favorite, handled by Culmone, got nothing.

Another juicy double payoff of $338.90 materialized when Hasty Sun, $20.10, and Blazing Silver, $35.40, copped the first two events today at Tropical Park. There were 61 combinations sold on it.

Hasty Sun, ridden by Cuba's Antonio Fernandez, barely got up to nose out Harvest Reward. It was so close only the camera could separate them on the wire. Sky Chilla, an outsider, was third, while Stefanella, the favorite, ran out of the money.

Blazing Silver, ridden smartly by Warren Mehrtens, led all the way, finishing a couple of lengths clear of the 6 to 5 favorite Tit-Willow. Third in the field of a dozen sprinters was Hasty Blen.

Officious Is Easy Winner At Tropical

Double Pays $338; Culmone Is Blanked

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 6 (AP) — Fred W. Hooper's Officious, a two-time winner during the New York season, outclassed a field of eight two-year olds as he jogged to victory in the featured sixth event today before 6,755 at Tropical Park.

The black gelding carried Shelby Clark to a seven-length triumph over Mrs. S. Lewin's Sailing High, a 9 to 1 shot, and reeled off the six furlongs in 1.11 3-5.

Mrs. J. Purpura's In Taste, another outsider, was third, a head farther back, while Fiddle, with Joe Culmone up, was a dull fourth, much to the disappointment of form players.

Culmone, the nation's No. 1 rider with 361 to his credit, again failed to impress patrons here, he was shut out on five mounts, during the first six races of the afternoon.

Officious which paid $7.30, 4.60 and $4.40, was away well in the headliner and, after forcing the early pace set by Chall Wind, assumed command at the head of the stretch, then drew away with ease.

Besita, $11.50, with Willie Passmore up, outgamed Fashioned to account for the six-furlong fifth. Yazdegerd was third, Wodside, the favorite, handled by Culmone, got nothing.

Another juicy double payoff of $338.90 materialized when Hasty Sun, $20.10, and Blazing Silver, $35.40, copped the first two events today at Tropical Park. There were 61 combinations sold on it.

Hasty Sun, ridden by Cuba's Antonio Fernandez, barely got up to nose out Harvest Reward. It was so close only the camera could separate them on the wire. Sky Chilla, an outsider, was third, while Stefanella, the favorite, ran out of the money.

Blazing Silver, ridden smartly by Warren Mehrtens, led all the way, finishing a couple of lengths clear of the 6 to 5 favorite Tit-Willow. Third in the field of a dozen sprinters was Hasty Blen.

Pine Seedlings To Be Planted

FROSTBURG — Complying with a recommendation of C. E. Blackstock, assistant district forester of Maryland's Department of Forestry, Frostburg will plant 30,000 pine seedlings on the Piney Run area in order to assure an adequate watershed for the future.

Eighty acres will be planted with red pine and another 40 acres will be planted at a future date with a fast growing spruce. Action was taken at a meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners Monday evening.

The State Forestry Department will furnish the seedlings at no cost to the city. About 20 acres will be set out with a mechanical planter. Two men operating the machine can set out 8,000 seedlings a day. The city will pay for use of the machine and planting the remainder of the trees.

Pine Seedlings To Be Planted

FROSTBURG — Complying with a recommendation of C. E. Blackstock, assistant district forester of Maryland's Department of Forestry, Frostburg will plant 30,000 pine seedlings on the Piney Run area in order to assure an adequate watershed for the future.

Eighty acres will be planted with red pine and another 40 acres will be planted at a future date with a fast growing spruce. Action was taken at a meeting of the Mayor and City Commissioners Monday evening.

The State Forestry Department will furnish the seedlings at no cost to the city. About 20 acres will be set out with a mechanical planter. Two men operating the machine can set out 8,000 seedlings a day. The city will pay for use of the machine and planting the remainder of the trees.

Keyser Students Are Balloting On Snow Ball Queen

Also Plan To Select King As Escort

KEYSER, W. Va. — Students of Keyser High and Junior High School are in the midst of the annual Miss Snow Ball selection activities, with voting boxes begin open daily during school hours from now until the afternoon of Friday, December 15. At that time the successful candidate will be named from the number of votes received. There are six candidates for the Queen of Snow Ball, and the one of those six who receives the most votes cast by the students, will be crowned for this year. The crowning will be conducted at the annual Snow Ball in the gymnasium, December 15.

Each student voting for his favorite, is required to accompany his vote with a penny for each ballot and each student may vote as many times as he desires. Announcement of results will be made daily until the third day prior to the closing of the polls. From that time there will be no announcement made until the polls close, when the final vote will be counted and the winner named.

Each of the high school classes has a candidate as well as one named by Tri-Hi-Y and K-Ettes. Each of the classes, the Student Council and K-Club have candidates for Mr. Snow Ball or King escort for the queen.

Candidates on whom the students are voting are:

Mrs. Wilbur Bryant, violinist, will be the soloist. Christmas carols will be played on the recorder during the social period. An exchange of gifts will be held and refreshments will be served.

Members of the fine arts committee who will serve as hostesses are Mrs. Drane, Mrs. Janet Copenhaver, Mrs. Agnes Small, Mrs. Carl Bosley, Mrs. Harry Baker, Mrs. Bernard Maybury and Mrs. Joseph Maybury.

Central Students Get Hearing Tests

LONACONING — Mrs. D. M. Sweene, audiometric technician, Board of Education office, is giving hearing tests to pupils of grade one, three, five, seven, nine and eleven at Central school this week.

The tests are the first step in a cooperative effort between the departments of Health and Education to establish a hearing conservation program in the schools and a report of the results of the hearing test is given the child.

Ralph E. Kessler, director of special education, Board of Education, is in charge of the program.

McCoole Groups Plan Yule Party

McCoole Fire Company, V.F.W. Post 6775 and V.F.W. Auxiliary; McCoole Fire Company Auxiliary; McCoole Homemakers Club; Goodwill Club; and the Parent-Teacher Association.

The program will consist of a special Christmas movie and singing carols. Santa Claus will present each child with a treat. The committee will meet Friday to make final plans.

Moorefield Church Plans Loyalty Day

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The "Fall Loyalty Campaign" of the Duffey Memorial Methodist Church got underway this week as the thirty three members of the Board of Stewards received assignments and began calling on the membership.

Each of the 456 members of the church will have received a call from the Stewards or from the pastor between now and December 31 which has been designated as "Loyalty Sunday." On this last Sunday in the year, it is hoped to have a representative from every family in the church present at a service beginning at 11 a.m. This is also Methodist Student Day in the Church School.

The membership of the church as plotted on a map of Moorefield and surrounding territory is fairly generally spread over the entire area.

MYF At Moorefield Plans Christmas Party

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Valley Sub-District of the MYF will be entertained by the Moorefield Church Monday night at 7:30 p.m. The Christmas program will be in charge of the local fellowship and Eugene Woodworth of Burlington will direct the recreation.

All four circles of the WSCS will combine to serve refreshments to an estimated attendance of 150. The MYF members will bring white gifts for the Methodist Children's Home at Burlington this month.

Mt. Savage PTA Will Meet Tonight

MT. SAVAGE — The Parent-Teacher Association of Mt. Savage Elementary and Junior High School will meet tonight in the school auditorium.

Teachers will be in their classrooms at 7 o'clock to confer with parents.

Guests will be Mrs. Edmund Wilson, state chairman on bylaws and procedure; and Mrs. John Lancaster, state treasurer. A travel movie will be shown.

Keyser Alumni Planning For Holiday Dance

Event Is Scheduled For December 29

KEYSER, W. Va. — Plans were completed Tuesday evening by the Keyser High School Alumni Association for the annual holiday dance to be held at the Keyser Moose home on Friday evening, December 29.

The dance will be semi-formal and music will be furnished by the Societeers from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. The public is invited. Mrs. Barger is in charge of reservations, and tickets will be on sale at the door.

Plans for the Daisy Mae and Lil Abner basketball game to be presented next month at the high school gymnasium were discussed. Only members will be permitted to play in the game. Captains chosen for the two teams are Robert Broome and Frances Hartman, with Dee Cesare and Bea Auer as co-captains.

The association voted to provide a good basket for a needy local family for Christmas. Members are asked to bring donations of food and canned goods to the next meeting Wednesday evening, December 13.

Draft Board Records Are Being Separated

KEYSER, W. Va.—Work of transferring the records of the old Mineral-Hampshire County Draft Board No. 36 has progressed to the point where it is likely that the records can be handled separately after this week.

For several weeks Mrs. Elleen H. Stafford, who has been the clerk for the two-county board, and Mrs. Madalyn D. Hull, who was recently appointed clerk of the Hampshire County board, have been working in the Keyser office, separating all records so that each county will be able to operate its own selective service board as provided under the new setup in which each county in the state will have the individual board.

The Hampshire County records will be moved to Romney and Mrs. Hull will have charge of them as board clerk. Mrs. Stafford will continue as clerk here, handling only Mineral County selective service records.

The next group and probably the last one under the two-county system will leave here for Martinsburg on December 14 for induction processing. Five young men from Mineral and two from Hampshire County will constitute the group.

Grantsville Briefs

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Beachy, of Wilkinsburg, Pa., and Mr. Beachy's father J. A. Beachy of Grantsville are spending some time in Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. James Hann and son, of Westminister, spent the weekend with Mrs. Hann's parents Mr. and Mrs. Hobert Speicher.

Henry Bridges Taken To Baltimore Hospital

HANCOCK — Henry P. Bridges, widely-known secretary-treasurer of the Woodmont Rod and Gun Club, was stricken at the club Sunday and has been taken to a Baltimore hospital.

The nature of Mr. Bridges' illness has not been announced. Two Baltimore specialists, whom he had visited last week, were summoned to Woodmont Sunday and after an examination advised his removal to the hospital.

Iota Pi Chapter Holds Election

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Iota Pi Chapter, Tau Phi Lambda Sorority, of the Supreme Forest Woodmen Circle met at the home of Mary Rotruck and elected officers as follows: Juanita Rotruck, president; Mary Kirby, first vice-president; Doris Nesbit, second vice-president; Adrian Clise, secretary; Alma Payne, treasurer; Kathleen Harrison, chaplain; Phyllis Dorsey, warden; Mary Ellen Carpenter, historian; Adrian Clise, musician and Loretta Keener, advisor.

The new officers will be installed at an initiation ceremony January 22 at the Old Homestead Hotel, Burlington, following a dinner.

At the business meeting the date for the Year Book committee to meet was set as December 10 at the home of Mary Rotruck. A Christmas party will be held at the home of Betty Murray, December 18.

Following the business meeting Betty Kephart was pledged into the sorority. The next regular meeting will be held at the Potomac Edison Office January 8.

Keyser Auxiliary Holds Party

KEYSER, W. Va. — The Ladies Auxiliary of the Vigilant Reel and Hose Company, held its annual Christmas turkey dinner and party Tuesday evening at the Fire Hall. Presents were given to each guest.

The tables were decorated in keeping with the Yule season, with fire logs, a Santa Claus and reindeer, together with several miniature Christmas trees.

Present were Mr. and Mrs. James Leary, Mr. and Mrs. Carter Rawlings, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Stickley, Mr. and Mrs. Page Entler, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Cross, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Barrick, Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Gooch Is Held In Shooting Case

KEYSER, W. Va. — Homer R Gooch, a resident of Old Furnace Road, is being held in the Mineral County Jail for the January grand jury, charged with felonious assault according to State Police.

Gooch is charged with shooting Casper Shook, a resident of the Furnace Road district, in an alleged quarrel between the two on Tuesday.

Police said they were told Shook drove his car into the Gooch driveday and Gooch ran out of his house with a 12-gauge shotgun and fired through the windshield.

Shook suffered injuries to his left hand, resulting in amputation of the middle and third fingers at Memorial Hospital in Cumberland.

Staggers Polled 53,485 In Election

CHARLESTON, W. Va. Dec. 5 (AP) —Rep. Harley O. Staggers, Keyser Democrat, won reelection to Congress from the Second District by a majority of 8,560 votes over Republican Melvin C. Snyder of Kingwood, final figures showed today.

Official figures certified to the secretary of state from the district's 15 counties gave Staggers 53,485 votes to 44,925 for Snyder.

Keyser Students Are Balloting On Snow Ball Queen

Also Plan To Select King As Escort

KEYSER, W. Va. — Students of Keyser High and Junior High School are in the midst of the annual Miss Snow Ball selection activities, with voting boxes begin open daily during school hours from now until the afternoon of Friday, December 15. At that time the successful candidate will be named from the number of votes received. There are six candidates for the Queen of Snow Ball, and the one of those six who receives the most votes cast by the students, will be crowned for this year. The crowning will be conducted at the annual Snow Ball in the gymnasium, December 15.

Each student voting for his favorite, is required to accompany his vote with a penny for each ballot and each student may vote as many times as he desires. Announcement of results will be made daily until the third day prior to the closing of the polls. From that time there will be no announcement made until the polls close, when the final vote will be counted and the winner named.

Each of the high school classes has a candidate as well as one named by Tri-Hi-Y and K-Ettes. Each of the classes, the Student Council and K-Club have candidates for Mr. Snow Ball or King escort for the queen.

Candidates on whom the students are voting are:

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6 (INS)—Bill Bailey, salvation preaching Negro minister, well known to eastern revival trails, will play Bill Robinson in "The Life of Bill Robinson"—and brethren and sisters this is news!

At first I thought Producer Abby (Abner) Greshler had maybe slipped a chain getting a minister to play the best soft shoe dancer and one of the great Negro personalities of show business.

But, no! He has, apparently, come up with a perfect natural. Bailey, a brother of well known actress, Pearl Bailey, was in show business for years before he took up the ministry. The drama and heart and genuine emotional warmth he pours into his sermons will come in handy as he projects the late Robinson's own heart and great appeal.

There was a secret powwow at Warners today to consider the feasibility of re-issuing some of the famous Al Jolson films. "Wonder Bar," "Rose of Washington Square," "Mammy" and many others were looked at with the idea of re-releasing as a sort of memorial to Al.

Columbia has registered the title "Mr. Show Business," and they hope to get Larry Parks to do another Jolson role. But Warners will act on the theory that the public will be eager to see Al, himself. Al once said that some movie fans thought Larry Parks was really Jolson.

I'm glad that a posthumous award was given to Al for his wonderful service to his country.

I hadn't seen Bill "Hopalong" Boyd for some time until we met at the Modern Screen party at Ciro's. Bill hopes to go to Berlin and carry a Merry Christmas to the children there.

Although he made $250,000 last season traveling with Cole Brothers Circus, he has decided not to go out again with the circus. One reason is because he has adopted a permanent policy of making no more public appearances where the public will have to pay admission to see him—unless it's a charity event.

Bill says, "I am not an entertainer, and I feel I get enough money from the public through my movies, cartoons and the sale of products endorsed by me."

Margaret Whiting tells me that she's going back to Travis Air Base Sunday at Fairfield. The best news I've heard in days is that she is going to be on a show that Bob Hope is giving.

The boys who heard Bob in Korea are crazy about him and those who missed him at the hospital at Travis Air Base were bemoaning the fact. Bob, who played so many shows, couldn't make the Fairfield spot just then, but he's giving them their own special show.

Harold Peary (The Great Gildersleeve) will spend Christmas Eve and Christmas Day at Fairfield putting on shows. He will also distribute gifts to the boys, so if you're in a gift sending mood help Hal by sending something to P. O. Box 150, Los Angeles 53, Calif.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Jennifer Jones, expecting a baby in the late spring, has been quite sick. She's had virus as have so many people.

Sam Goldwyn has been having a lot of telephone conversations with Gen. Mark Clark over the possibility of Goldwyn producing Clark's book, "Calculated Risk."

Shelley Winters told me my item in the column helped her situation in her picture, "He Ran All The Way." She now gets a better break and the ending she wants.

Ida Lupino went there from the Modern Screen party with Charles Feldman.

Dick Haymes, who had to close his eastern personal appearance tour and go to Palm Springs, has been told by his doctor that he must also cancel his trip to Europe in January. Well, health is more important than anything else.

That's all today. See you tomorrow!

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

"Alone at last," sighed a bridegroom to his bride—but he was wrong, for at that precise moment, a pistol was poked into his ribs, and a gruff voice commanded, "Put 'em up." The intruder, obviously experienced, headed straight for the jewel box on the dresser, but then he got a real glimpse of the bride.

Hastily drawing a circle on the floor with his heel, he commanded the bridegroom, "Into this circle, lug, and if you move out of it, I'll shoot you full of holes." So the poor bridegroom stood in the circle, and watched in misery while the intruder kissed and hugged the gal enthusiastically. When he finally exited—having quite forgotten the jewels, incidentally, the bride turned on the bridegroom and cried, "How could you stand there and watch a total stranger making love to your wife? Are you a man or a mouse?"

NEW YORK—(INS) JAMES KEVIN McGuinness's lamented death in New York this week removed from the American scene at a critical time one of the finest and most courageous anti-Communist fighters this land has ever known.

Crusading is something less than emptiness if the crusader stands no risk of suffering for devotion to his principle. McGuinness felt the full brunt, and bore it with manful pride.

He once had a good set-up in Hollywood . . . A plushy office, fine income, a wide circle of interesting friends, and the comforting knowledge that, years before, he had climbed to a place of great distinction in New York journalism. He could have sat out the storm which he was one of the first to detect.

But he happened to love his country a lot more than he loved his comfort. When the American Communist Party began its well-planned job of infiltrating the motion picture industry, through some of its labor unions and in the fields of writing, direction and production, McGuinness rebelled against the affront.

He made an almost unparalleled study of Communist intentions and tactics, and the conspiracy took vivid shape in his keen mind. He knew, for instance, that Lenin had written "Communism must always consider that of all the arts the motion picture is the most important." And he knew that Willie Muenzenburg, one-time member of the Communist international in charge of cultural affairs, had written:

"We must develop the tremendous cultural possibilities of motion pictures in a revolutionary sense. One of the most pressing tasks confronting the Communist Party in the field of propaganda is the conquest of this supremely important propaganda until now the monopoly of the ruling class. We must wrest it from them and turn it against them."

While colleagues yawned or began to drop him from their lists in what, in the light of current events, was stupid fear, Jim went to work almost single-handedly against the infiltrators. McGuinness soon won the attention of the Communists by refusing to fall for the routine practice of delaying votes in labor meetings until after the pro-Americans in the meetings grew bored with the windy parliamentarianism and left. His anti-Red tracts and pro-American pictures galled them.

He was instrumental in forming and holding together—under the most abusive kind of attack—the motion picture alliance for the preservation of American ideals. Quietly, he argued for hours with company executives who either could not recognize the subversives in their studios or preferred to ignore them because any such revelation might have hurt the fat grosses.

He and his associates became the watchdogs of scripts turned out by left-wing writers . . . scripts which invariably painted the rich as grasping and greedy exploiters of the poor (who were always honest and downtrodden) and which portrayed bankers as generally despotic and judges and political figures as either crooked or pompous fools.

McGuinness testified before the House Un-American Activities Committee which cited "the Hollywood Ten" for contempt of Congress. Shortly thereafter it was plain to him that his days at his studio were numbered, though he had a great number of fine pictures and had served his country with distinction in two wars.

It was a relief for him to come back to his beloved New York recently, for a rest after writing Republic's very successful "Rio Grande" for his friends John Ford and John Wayne. The city and the reunion with old friends stimulated him, and gave him new determination to fight Communism with all the weapons at his command.

He considered returning to newspaper columning, but that was only one of many plans. It distressed him, for instance, that the son of his late great associate Ring Lardner should be in prison for refusal to recant his Communist leanings, and Jim hoped to gather together a number of Ring's other old friends and call on the young man to try to win him back to Americanism and regain his freedom.

A good friend of Jim's stopped him in front of "21" the other day and said to him, "Jim, I just learned why you got kicked around in Hollywood. They caught you red-handed with an American flag your possession."

It was one of the last laughs great and courageous American w to enjoy.

HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 6 (INS)—Bill Bailey, salvation preaching Negro minister, well known to eastern revival trails, will play Bill Robinson in "The Life of Bill Robinson"—and brethren and sisters this is news!

At first I thought Producer Abby (Abner) Greshler had maybe slipped a chain getting a minister to play the best soft shoe dancer and one of the great Negro personalities of show business.

But, no! He has, apparently, come up with a perfect natural. Bailey, a brother of well known actress, Pearl Bailey, was in show business for years before he took up the ministry. The drama and heart and genuine emotional warmth he pours into his sermons will come in handy as he projects the late Robinson's own heart and great appeal.

STAG LINES

By BERT BACHARACH

Shirt-Sweater All in One

Casual Combination

FASHION: Rod Cameron (at right), of Columbia's "Stage to Tucson," wears one of the newest sportswear ideas. It's a sport-shirt-sweater—all combined in one garment.

Gadgets: A new imported pocket knife contains a wrench, hammer, file, screw driver, bit drill, awl. And blades, too! . . . A bronze sign marked OPEN on one side, CLOSED on the other—for your office, bar, house or whatnot. . . . Time-O-Phone clock that snaps on center of dial. Sweep hand lets you keep track of those three-minute calls.

Know Your Size: In an earlier column we described "regular," "short" and "long." Here are three more classes: 1. Stout, for a man 5'7" to 5'9", with waist same size as chest. 2. Portly, 5'7½" to 5'10", waist

Sentimental

Odd Items: Napoleon not only carried cologne to the battlefront, he had a special campaign chest containing about 160 items of good grooming. Houbigant now owns it. . . . Easter will fall on March 25 this coming year. It won't be that early again until 2008! . . . In the U. S. we have 24 Dublins and 16 Belfasts! . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars to—radio and TV columnist John Crosby, who has kept his "listener" status by never in his career going to a broadcast or telecast.

COUNT ENTRIES FIRST

WITH several finessing situations in your hand, which require leads from the dummy, it is always well to count the number of entries in the dummy before playing a solitary card to any trick. Otherwise, you are in danger of snuffing out one or more chances to reach the holding opposite you and so may wind up having to lead away from your nice tenace honors to the defender whose own honors might have been trapped.

	♠ None ♥ 8 6 5 2 ♦ 9 8 6 5 2 ♣ A 10 4 3

West's 5-Spades bid was not merely for a sacrifice, but to impede North's response to the 4-No Trumps Blackwood. The latter result was not accomplished. In that situation, a pass by North would have shown no aces, since West had kept it open, whereas the lowest legal bid over the 5-Spades would show one ace, 5-Clubs would show two, and so on.

South was conservative enough when he put the contract into 6-Hearts instead of being tempted by grand slam ideas. He should have made it but failed because of the old fault of acting first and thinking afterward.

Playing too fast, South discarded a diamond on the spade Q lead, which he won with the K. He quickly led the club 2 to the A and finessed the heart Q, being pleased when it won. Then he was abruptly shocked at seeing he had only one more possible entry to the dummy, by ruffing the spade A. That enabled him to win a second heart finesse. But now he had to lead all the time from his own hand, so he had to lose to both red kings and was set.

If South, noticing the desirability of plenty of finessing, had counted entries, he would have found four, not two. He could have ruffed both spade honors and could have had two in clubs by overtaking one honor with the A and leading the 2 to the 10. Using these right, when a second trump finesse showed West now blank of hearts, he could have finessed diamonds twice, felled the K with the A and then led top clubs until East used his heart K, or perhaps the 9, whereupon his K could have been killed by the A.

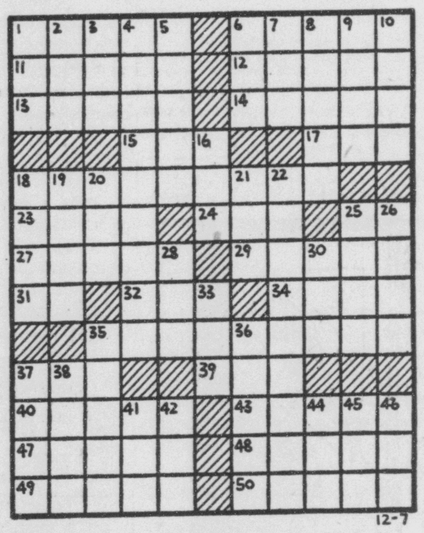
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L'O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Column for Men

STAG LINES

By BERT BACHARACH

Casual Combination

FASHION: Rod Cameron (at right), of Columbia's "Stage to Tucson," wears one of the newest sportswear ideas. It's a sport-shirt-sweater—all combined in one garment.

Gadgets: A new imported pocket knife contains a wrench, hammer, file, screw driver, bit drill, awl. And blades, too! . . . A bronze sign marked OPEN on one side, CLOSED on the other—for your office, bar, house or whatnot. . . . Time-O-Phone clock that snaps on center of dial. Sweep hand lets you keep track of those three-minute calls.

Handyman: Gilmore's Steak House advises keeping the inside of metal salt shaker tops from rusting in this way—paint with clear nail polish; when dry, open the holes from the inside with a darning needle.

Care of Clothes: It's good economy, and sanitary, to alternate shoes regularly. . . . If gloves are discolored and faded, they can easily be home-dyed to a darker color.

Know Your Size: In an earlier column we described "regular," "short" and "long." Here are three more classes: 1. Stout, for a man 5'7" to 5'9", with waist same size as chest. 2. Portly, 5'7½" to 5'10", waist three inches less than chest. 3. Extra long, 6'3" to 6'5", waist five to seven inches less than chest.

Sentimental

Feminine Advice: Lovely songstress Evelyn Knight (left) says: "At Christmas time, it's the sentimental, more than the intrinsic, value that counts in a gift. For your favorite girl, pick something that will remind her of you."

Odd Items: Napoleon not only carried cologne to the battlefront, he had a special campaign chest containing about 160 items of good grooming. Houbigant now owns it. . . . Easter will fall on March 25 this coming year. It won't be that early again until 2008! . . . In the U. S. we have 24 Dublins and 16 Belfasts! . . . This week's "Pass the Cigars to—radio and TV columnist John Crosby, who has kept his "listener" status by never in his career going to a broadcast or telecast.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

COUNT ENTRIES FIRST

WITH several finessing situations in your hand, which require leads from the dummy, it is always well to count the number of entries in the dummy before playing a solitary card to any trick. Otherwise, you are in danger of snuffing out one or more chances to reach the holding opposite you and so may wind up having to lead away from your nice tenace honors to the defender whose own honors might have been trapped.

West's 5-Spades bid was not merely for a sacrifice, but to impede North's response to the 4-No Trumps Blackwood. The latter result was not accomplished. In that situation, a pass by North would have shown no aces, since West had kept it open, whereas the lowest legal bid over the 5-Spades would show one ace, 5-Clubs would show two, and so on.

South was conservative enough when he put the contract into 6-Hearts instead of being tempted by grand slam ideas. He should have made it but failed because of the old fault of acting first and thinking afterward.

Playing too fast, South discarded a diamond on the spade Q lead, which he won with the K. He quickly led the club 2 to the A and finessed the heart Q, being pleased when it won. Then he was abruptly shocked at seeing he had only one more possible entry to the dummy, by ruffing the spade A. That enabled him to win a second heart finesse. But now he had to lead all the time from his own hand, so he had to lose to both red kings and was set.

If South, noticing the desirability of plenty of finessing, had counted entries, he would have found four, not two. He could have ruffed both spade honors and could have had two in clubs by overtaking one honor with the A and leading the 2 to the 10. Using these right, when a second trump finesse showed West now blank of hearts, he could have finessed diamonds twice, felled the K with the A and then led top clubs until East used his heart K, or perhaps the 9, whereupon his K could have been killed by the A.

A X Y D L B A A X E
is L'ONGFELLOW

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

In Memoriam

In memory of my mother, Mrs. Louise L. Sidaway, who died 8 years ago, Dec. 7, 1942.
Somewhere back of the sunset
Where the loveliness never dies,
She lives in a land of glory
With the blue and gold of the skies.
She had a smile for everyone,
A heart as good as gold;
To those who knew and loved her,
That memory will never grow old.
Her Daughter, Geraldine

In Memoriam

In memory of my mother, Mrs. Louise L. Sidaway, who died 8 years ago, Dec. 7, 1942.
Somewhere back of the sunset
Where the loveliness never dies,
She lives in a land of glory
With the blue and gold of the skies.
She had a smile for everyone,
A heart as good as gold;
To those who knew and loved her,
That memory will never grow old.
Her Daughter, Geraldine

Rail stocks rolled ahead on a clear track today but late selling flagged down the balance of the market.

Carrier issues finished with gains running to an extreme of $4 or so a share. Theb alance of the list ended well under the best marks of the day in most cases but still up by a few cents to around $1 a share.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 60 cents to $83.50 a share. This compared with Tuesdays' jump of $1.40 and Monday's drop of $2.20.

Higher prices were paid for 692 out of the 1,159 individual stocks traded and lower for 240.

Santa Fe moved up $4.12 a share to $135.50 and Denver & Rio Grande Western $3.37 to $49.75.

Higher by $1 to around $2 each were Atlantic Coast Line at $60.75, Chesapeake & Ohio $31.75, Union Pacific $98, Southern Pacific $59.62, Nickel Plate $169.50, and Illinois Central $59.

Others ahead included Curtiss-Wright, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Grumman, Noma Electric, Socony-Vacuum, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Kennecott Copper, du Pont, Philip Morris, Standard Oil (NJ), and Johns-Manville.

Chrysler was higher most of the day but ended in the minus column, down 25 cents at $66.12.

Also trimmed were Goodrich, Woolworth, Dow Chemical and General Electric.

Moorefield Women Plan Sunshine Project

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Moorefield Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. S. A. McCoy for its December session.

Reports were made on the Friendship project, showing that 32 visits or contacts had been made by members of the club to shut-ins in the community.

Plans were also discussed for the distribution of fruit and cookies by the Sunshine committee. Mrs. S. L. Dodd, chairman, asked for a couple of volunteers to assist her committee for this project and Mrs. W. J. Teets and Mrs. Ashby Scea offered to assist.

Christmas carols and impromptu reports on "My Happiest Christmas" featured the meeting.

Mrs. McCoy was assisted by Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Mrs. M. A. Bean and Mrs. W. D. McCauley as cohostesses.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Married women live longer than single women and are increasing their life expectancy all the time. So says the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, which points out that married women have a lower death rate than single women in all age brackets and have made more progress in improving their chances for a long life.

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Will an honest person "look you in the eye"?

Answer: Not unless he happens also to be relatively free from self-doubt, which the type of person who is "scrupulously honest" is rather unlikely to be. The one man whose gaze invariably meets yours without flinching is the crook who has drilled himself to do so in order to gain the confidence which he intends to abuse. Fear of letting someone look into your eyes—which is what really makes you "look the other way"—goes back to the childish idea that this will let him "read your mind." And self-doubt is what makes you fear this.

Does psychoanalysis over-emphasize sex?

Answer: No. Its founder, Freud, did much to bring festering sexual problems out into the open, but the notion that he makes them all-important grows out of two radical misunderstandings. In the first place, for good and sufficient reasons, he applies the word "sex" to all efforts to gain pleasure through the senses—to eating, for instance. In the second place he states most clearly that the other instinct children are most often punished for expressing—"aggression," or combativeness—is quite as important as sex, if not more so.

Should you try to stop a baby's sucking his thumb?

Answer: No, say child psychiatrists, almost unanimously. The danger of physical deformity has been greatly exaggerated, and at worst is far less than that of the emotional frustration that will result from depriving him of a deeply needed satisfaction. There is even reason to believe that a large share of speech disorders represent unconscious conflict between longing for the once-forbidden pleasure of mouth stimulation (which means far more to a baby than the average adult realizes) and the fear of being punished for it.

Rail Stocks Roll Ahead; Selling Cuts Other Gains

NEW YORK, Dec. 6 (AP) — Railroad stocks rolled ahead on a clear track today but late selling flagged down the balance of the market.

Carrier issues finished with gains running to an extreme of $4 or so a share. Theb alance of the list ended well under the best marks of the day in most cases but still up by a few cents to around $1 a share.

Trading picked up speed as selling expanded in the last hour and volume increased to 2,010,000 shares from 1,940,000 Tuesday.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 60 cents to $83.50 a share. This compared with Tuesdays' jump of $1.40 and Monday's drop of $2.20.

Higher prices were paid for 692 out of the 1,159 individual stocks traded and lower for 240.

Santa Fe moved up $4.12 a share to $135.50 and Denver & Rio Grande Western $3.37 to $49.75.

Higher by $1 to around $2 each were Atlantic Coast Line at $60.75, Chesapeake & Ohio $31.75, Union Pacific $98, Southern Pacific $59.62, Nickel Plate $169.50, and Illinois Central $59.

Others ahead included Curtiss-Wright, General Motors, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Steel, Grumman, Noma Electric, Socony-Vacuum, Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, Philco, Kennecott Copper, du Pont, Philip Morris, Standard Oil (NJ), and Johns-Manville.

Chrysler was higher most of the day but ended in the minus column, down 25 cents at $66.12.

Also trimmed were Goodrich, Woolworth, Dow Chemical and General Electric.

Moorefield Women Plan Sunshine Project

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — The Moorefield Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. S. A. McCoy for its December session.

Reports were made on the Friendship project, showing that 32 visits or contacts had been made by members of the club to shut-ins in the community.

Plans were also discussed for the distribution of fruit and cookies by the Sunshine committee. Mrs. S. L. Dodd, chairman, asked for a couple of volunteers to assist her committee for this project and Mrs. W. J. Teets and Mrs. Ashby Scea offered to assist.

Christmas carols and impromptu reports on "My Happiest Christmas" featured the meeting.

Mrs. McCoy was assisted by Mrs. R. E. Fisher, Mrs. M. A. Bean and Mrs. W. D. McCauley as cohostesses.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—Married women live longer than single women and are increasing their life expectancy all the time. So says the Women's Bureau of the Department of Labor, which points out that married women have a lower death rate than single women in all age brackets and have made more progress in improving their chances for a long life.

MIRROR • OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Will an honest person "look you in the eye"?

Answer: Not unless he happens also to be relatively free from self-doubt, which the type of person who is "scrupulously honest" is rather unlikely to be. The one man whose gaze invariably meets yours without flinching is the crook who has drilled himself to do so in order to gain the confidence which he intends to abuse. Fear of letting someone look into your eyes—which is what really makes you "look the other way"—goes back to the childish idea that this will let him "read your mind." And self-doubt is what makes you fear this.

Does psychoanalysis overemphasize sex?

Answer: No. Its founder, Freud, did much to bring festering sexual problems out into the open, but the notion that he makes them all-important grows out of two radical misunderstandings. In the first place, for good and sufficient reasons, he applies the word "sex" to all efforts to gain pleasure through the senses—to eating, for instance. In the second place he states most clearly that the other instinct children are most often punished for expressing—"aggression," or combativeness—is quite as important as sex, if not more so.

Should you try to stop a baby's sucking his thumb?

Answer: No, say child psychiatrists, almost unanimously. The danger of physical deformity has been greatly exaggerated, and at worst is far less than that of the emotional frustration that will result from depriving him of a deeply needed satisfaction. There is even reason to believe that a large share of speech disorders represent unconscious conflict between longing for the once-forbidden pleasure of mouth stimulation (which means far more to a baby than the average adult realizes) and the fear of being punished for it.

Area Trio Is Held In Probe Of Mine Theft

Questioning To Continue Today

Three area men are being held for investigation in connection with the larceny of wire from the Hampshire Mine of the Campbell Coal Company near Barton, according to Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis.

Authorities identified the trio as Frank D'Agostino, Keyser, W. Va.; John Sugars, McCoole; and Harry Whetzel, Great Cacapon, W. Va.

The men have admitted nothing as yet, according to Lewis, who said they also will be questioned as to whether they know anything about fires, explosions and other recent vandalism in the mining section.

The sheriff's office said the trio probably will be questioned today in the state's attorney's office.

Sugars is being held in City Jail and D'Agostino and Whetzel are in the County Jail, authorities said.

Destruction and theft of mine property in the Georges Creek region since mid-summer has resulted in loss and damages amounting to between $40,000 and $50,000, it was estimated yesterday.

All of the incidents, which included burning and blasting of mine buildings, the destruction of expensive power shovels and the theft of high-priced equipment, have been thoroughly investigated by the sheriff's office, it is reported.

Covers Three Counties

Sheriff Edward R. Muir pointed out that the vandalism and destruction is not only confined to Allegany County, but has occurred in Garrett County and in nearby West Virginia.

He theorized that roving gangs could be responsible.

Sheriff Muir was emphatic in stating that he does not believe union workers guilty of the acts, as he pointed out some union-operated mines have been stricken.

"The explosions and fires are definitely linked up," the sheriff declared.

Last summer the chain of events began. Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton mine owner, reported a conveyor belt of the Hoffa Mine at Pekin was damaged by a dynamite blast.

On August 27, explosions at the Hoffa mine destroyed a wheel house. A fan house near by was also leveled.

Hoffa also said that several weeks later the timbers of the conveyor were soaked with oil and ignited with fuses. However, a neighbor saw the fire and the Barton Hose Company No. 1 arrived in time to prevent serious damage.

Another mine owner who has suffered greatly is George D. Campbell, of Lonaconing, who operates the Campbell Coal Company.

Three times this year wire has been boldly taken from the trolley poles at his Hampshire Mine near Barton. Last week the looters took 2,000 feet.

On October 23 at the Hampshire Mine a fan house was destroyed by fire said to be of incendiary origin. A week later another fan house at the diggings was leveled in the same manner.

In addition to these two, there have been a series of minor fires at the mine, which is union-operated.

Equipment Wrecked

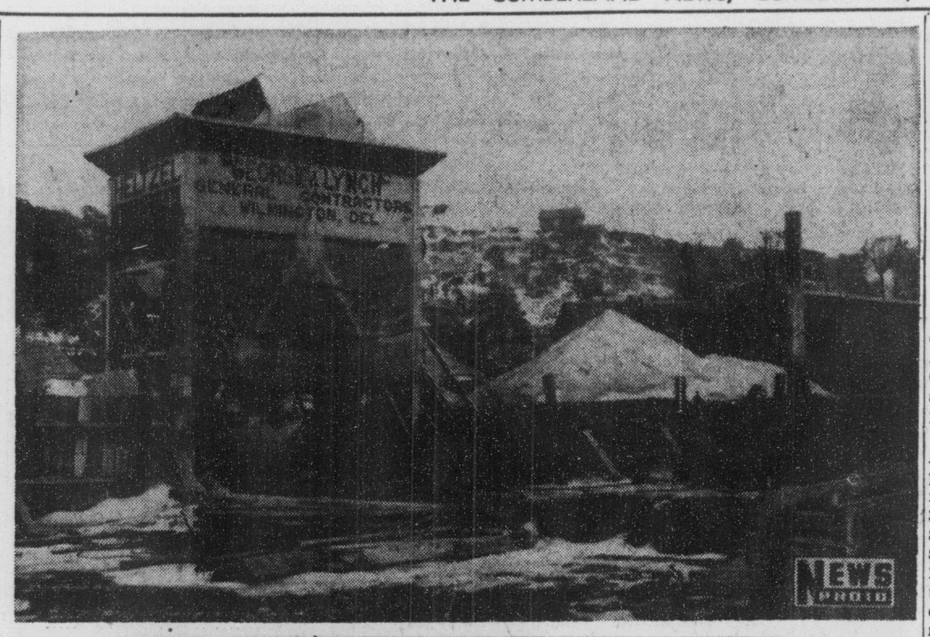
At a strip mine just across the county line in Garrett County, two miles north of Barton, a power shovel and a bulldozer were wrecked by explosives.

The damage, estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000, occurred October 22. The concussion of the triple blast shook windows in Lonaconing five miles away. The equipment was owned by F. P. Gaither, of this city.

On November 3, a $12,000 power shovel at the Mineral Coal Company strip mine on Jackson Mountain at Moscow was demolished. Police said the explosion was set deliberately.

One of the mine owners, Hoffa, has been outspoken in his criticism of the lack of law enforcement in the county.

Campbell said he has no idea who has been making his diggings a target for vandalism, incendiarism, and thefts. He merely stated that: "Some one must be mad at us."



Flood Control Work Progresses

Pictured at top is a steam boiler erected by George and Lynch, Inc., contractors for the local flood control project, to help raise temperatures of new cement so that it might be poured during periods of cold weather. The plant is located on Gay Street near the Baltimore and Ohio Rolling Mill. Operation is expected to begin today. The bottom picture shows the repaving of Williams street after pressure conduits had been installed. Yesterday, parts of Williams and Wineow Street were resurfaced.

New Steam Plant To Enable Flood Work To Continue In Cold Weather

Winter weather conditions of the past few days have forced the contractors of the local flood-control project to winterize their plant, Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer, reports.

To do this, contractors George and Lynch, Inc., have erected a steam boiler with a tank capacity of 3000 gallons at their batching plant near the Baltimore and Ohio Rolling Mill on Gay Street in order to heat water and cement to the required temperatures for mixing and placing it during the cold season.

The plant is expected to begin operations today and it will enable the contractor to pour cement at a temperature around 70 degrees even when the weather is much colder.

Dickson explained that in order to produce strong concrete structures, the temperature of the cement must be between 50 degrees and 70 degrees when it is placed. Depending upon weather conditions, he said, the water temperatures should be between 60 degrees and 90 degrees and the forms in which the aggregate is poured should not be lower than 40 degrees in temperature.

Therefore, even the forms have to be pre-heated and all frost, ice and snow removed before the concrete is poured.

After it has been placed in the forms, the air in contact with the cement must be maintained at a temperature between 50 degrees and 70 degrees for a period of five days. From then until 14 days after pouring, the cement must be kept above 32 degrees.

Circulating electric heaters are used to heat the forms and to maintain the necessary temperatures of the cement until the 14-day period is up. Sometimes, Dickson said, it is necessary to protect the newly poured concrete for much longer period, depending upon the weather conditions.

If the arid conditions prevail, he explained, the aggregate must be kept moist by sprinkling it with water. In summer, the concrete must be kept covered with burlap and sprinkled with water, especially if the temperature of the air rises higher than 80 degrees, he said.

National Guard Will Hold Ceremony Tomorrow Night

Final plans have been completed for National Guard ceremonies at the Strand Theatre on Friday night, according to First Battalion commanding officers.

The demonstration is being staged in conjunction with the National Guard "Breakthrough" drive for new members, now in progress. The program will include presentation of the colors, a talk by Col. Randolph Millholland, who will swear in several new members, and a demonstration of several weapons used by the First Battalion.

Highlight of the program will be an interview of M. Sgt. William Norwood, who has just returned from active duty in Korea, where he was twice wounded. Sgt. Norwood will tell some of his experiences and how his National Guard training proved of value on the field of battle.

Suzanne Dalbert, starring in the picture "Breakthrough", has invited members of the First Battalion to be her guests at the opening of the picture at the Strand Theatre on Friday night, and the Guardsmen will parade to the theatre where a special section is being reserved for them.

Miss Dalbert recently presented the First Battalion with an autographed photo enlargement for the Guard clubrooms, and also telegraphed the Battalion a congratulatory message wishing them success in their drive for members.

PTA Council Will Study Bus Condition

Committee Named To Probe Crowding

The Allegany County Council of Parent-Teachers appointed a chairman to take remedial measures on the overcrowding of buses carrying school children and received reports at a council meeting at West Side School. Mrs. Lawrence Shafferman, presided.

Walter Bell was selected to appoint his committee to see what can be done to have cars stop for all buses carrying school children; and check the overcrowded condition of the buses.

It was announced that the state convention will be held November 1 and 2 in Hagerstown instead of Baltimore. Tentative dates for the Summer Conference at College Park are July 9, 10 and 11.

The parents and teachers were advised to listen to a series of talks on the Mid-Century White House Conference on Children and Youth being given on WCUM tonight and tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. Edward Wilson reported on the Fun Night held last night attended by approximately 100 persons.

Reporting on the state convention in Baltimore last month Mrs. Wilson said she thought the service for the building for a headquarters in Chicago was most impressive. Mrs John Barncord, from Cresaptown School, stressed the music; and Mrs. Stafferman, told of the keynote address by Mrs. Clifford Jenkins, regional first vice president of the National PTA.

Cards on "Safety on the Highway" were distributed by Mr. Bell, Columbia Street School, county safety chairman. Mrs. Edgar Hounshell, Cresaptown, has a display of PTA publications.

Roll call was answered by 63 members representing 14 of the 27 schools in the county.

Traffic Club Plans Yuletide Dinner

The Tri-State Traffic Club will hold its annual Christmas party December 13 for members, their wives and friends. It is being held at Ali Ghan Country Club, beginning at 6:45 with dinner, John L. Carnochan said last evening.

An entertainment program is to be presented and will feature a visit by Santa Claus to distribute gifts.

$24,251 Is Paid For Old Age Aid In This County

Garrett Reports Higher Average

Total payments of $24,251.79 for old age assistance were made to 727 Allegany County residents during October, according to the monthly statistical report of the State Department of Public Welfare.

Old age assistance payments in Allegany county figured to $33.36 per individual. This was a lower rate than in Garrett county, where 304 individuals received $10,182.80 or $33.50. The state-wide total was $441,642.69 or $36.83 for each of 11,990 individuals. In Allegany county 26 new applications were received. Nine were added during the month and 27 were cancelled.

The report discloses that $24,256.01 was paid in Allegany county in October in aid of dependent children to 348 families with 883 children, an average of $69.70 per family. During October 22 applications were received here, seven were added and 10 cancelled during the month. Again in this category Allegany was below both the state and Garrett county averages. State-wide an average of $76.10 was paid to each of 6459 families for a total of $491,534.14. In Garrett county 132 families with 375 children received $9,895.05 or an average of $74.96 per family.

Aid To Blind

Public assistance to needy blind was afforded 26 individuals in Allegany county, five in Garrett county and 485 throughout the state. Of the state-wide total of $19,587.31, $928.94 was expended in Allegany county and $242.40 in Garrett.

In Allegany county in October there were 276 cases of general public assistance, with payments aggregating $9,641.98, or $34.93 per case.

Garrett county listed 77 general public assistance cases, with $2,762.19 having been paid, $35.87 per case State-wide there were 5,482 general assistance cases and they received a total of $232,881.14, an average of $42.48 per case.

During October, the report shows, 52 Allegany county children were cared for in foster homes. Payments for their care amounted to $1,969.25, $37.87 per child. In Garrett county, 19 children in foster homes required payments of $618.20 or $32.54 per child. State-wide there were 2,619 foster home children. For them payments of $114,803.09, $43.83 per child, were made.

Costs Decrease

Twenty-seven Allegany county children were in State training schools—Barrett School for Girls, Boys Village, Maryland Training School for Boys and Montrose School for Girls—the first day of October. During the month three more were committed by court while one was discharged, leaving 29 at the end of the month.

A recapitulation of the obligations incurred for the public welfare program reveals that October, 1950 payments were lower than the previous month but higher than the corresponding month of 1949. The figures were $1,300,448, October, 1950; $1,317,379, September 1950, and $1,247,335, October 1949.

Local Nimrod Hurt On Dan's Mountain

Herman Zembower, 34, RFD 5, Fairgo, this city received a gun-shot wound yesterday while hunting on Dan's Mountain.

Zembower, with a group of other men, was walking and one of the fellows behind him stumbled and his gun went off, the shot striking a stone. The shot ricocheted and struck Zembower in the left leg.

He was taken to Allegany Hospital by Joseph C. Mooney where he was given treatment for flesh wounds.

Mooney said the gun that caused the accident was an old style, long barrel 40-70 rifle.

Births Announced

Memorial Hospital announces the following births:

Mr. and Mrs. Horace R. Clark, 214 Columbia Street, a son, yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul W. Gravile, RFD 1, Hyndman, Pa., a son, yesterday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry R. Vetter, Jr., of South Fork, Moorefield, W. Va., a son, yesterday.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas C. Peck, 325 Central Avenue, a daughter, Tuesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Willard T. Mihailovick, 315 Independence Street, this city, a son, last night.

That's what William H. Buley, city parking meter inspector, is telling Lt. Edwin R. Lilya in demonstrating a new automatic parking meter installed at City Hall Plaza yesterday for testing purposes. The sample meter registers coins automatically with no problem of turning a handle. Lt. Lilya, head of the Traffic Division of the Cumberland Police Department, said another sample meter of a different type is also being tested.

Jaycees Urged To Gird Selves For Military Preparedness Plan

State President Cites Civil Defense

Cumberland Jaycees were asked last night by their state president to be a "sounding board" for a military and economic preparedness program, while continuing their civic work.

Jerold C. Hoffberger, Baltimore, termed the national emergency the most important community problem, in a talk at a dinner held by the Junior Association of Commerce at Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Hoffberger, president of the National Brewing Company, Baltimore, also stressed civil defense in his talk.

He indicated that the latter subject will be on the agenda at a state Jaycee board meeting in Towson, Saturday.

The four finalists in the "I Speak For Democracy" contest were guests at the dinner. Each was introduced by Don Comber, chairman of the contest, and received a table radio. Presentations were made by Hoffberger.

The finalists are Richard Dailey, Fort Hill High School; Barbara Sitter, Catholic Central High School; Douglas Houck, Allegany High School; and Mary Louise Fortney, Bruce High School, Westernport.

Music for dancing after the dinner program was furnished by Herbie Meyers Orchestra. Woodward Pealer was in charge of arrangements for the event, and Miles G. Thompson, Jr., is chairman of the membership drive.

Justice Taney Assembly To Hear Fr. Carney

Chief Justice Taney General Assembly Knights of Columbus will meet at 8:30 p.m., December 12 in the home of Frostburg Council 1442, East Main Street, Frostburg.

Rev. M. Kenneth Carney, St. Peter's Church, Oakland, is to be the principal speaker. His topic is "What's Wrong With The World?"

A native of Piedmont, Father Carney received his elementary education in St. Peter's School, Westernport, matriculating to St. Charles College and then to St. Mary's Seminary, both of Baltimore. He completed his studies at the North American College, Rome, Italy and was ordained to the priesthood in 1932 in Rome.

Father Carney served at St. John the Evangelist Church, Baltimore, before being sent to Oakland.

Stanley Fretwell, city, faithful navigator, will preside at the business session.

Concluding the meeting a buffet lunch is to be served.

Weather

Temperatures in this area were running a little higher yesterday, with a low of 19 degrees and a high of 41 degrees recorded in Constitution Park. Downtown, the low was 26 degrees and the high was 45 degrees. The forecast for today calls for cloudy skies, but not quite as cold with rain this afternoon.

Housing Meeting Fails To Materialize

Two members, Rev. H. M. Richardson and Robert L. Stallings, were out of town and another member, Earle L. Bracey, was unable to attend because of a school board meeting. Bracey is principal of Carver High School.

Several residents of the Shades Lane area were on hand prepared to protest the proposed location of a housing project for colored families on McNamee's Hill.

The meeting would have been the regular December session. Date of the next meeting will be set by the chairman, William L. Wilson, Jr.

Barbers Union Names Officers

Roy C. Wilson was re-elected president of Local No. 314, Barbers Union, at a meeting Tuesday night in the Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Also re-elected were Graham Shafer, vice president; and Fred B. Driscoll, secretary-treasurer.

Other officers named were John L. McGeady, recorder; Julius C. Linaburg, guide; Lawrence Tummino, guardian; and Ray Nine and James Littlefield, finance committee.

The officers will be installed at a meeting Tuesday, January 2, at Trades Council Hall.

Hunting Equipment Stolen From Soldier

Two rifles and other hunting material valued at more than $200 were stolen Tuesday night from the automobile of Sgt. E. A. Shirley, stationed at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Lt. James E. Van said the equipment was taken sometime after 5:40 p. m. Tuesday. The car was parked on Cumberland Street at the rear of Algonquin Hotel.

Action Taken For Repairs To Sewer Line

Narrows Park Group Names Committee

Action was taken last night at a meeting of Narrows Park residents for repairs to an old sewer line serving the section.

The meeting at LaVale Fire Hall was called by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy health officer, due to health hazards caused by three breaks in the sewer.

The 42 Narrows Park residents attending named a three-man committee to arrange for repairs to the line. Cost will be assessed against property owners tapping into the line.

On the committee are William Weigand, H. B. Klosterman and John W. Gravelle.

The six-inch sewer line runs westward toward LaVale and empties into Braddock Run. It was built 51 years ago.

Dowling and Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, chairman of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission stressed health hazards due to the open sewer condition along Route 40.

The line is owned jointly by the 64 property owners in Narrows Park who tap onto it.

Dowling stated that no public sewers in LaVale or Narrows Park meet standards of the State Department of Health. He pointed out that the Health Department has authority to issue court orders for the installation of septic tanks if the sewer line is not repaired.

The committee plan was carried out at the prior suggestion of Dr. Frantz, who was unable to attend.

Another speaker was George B. Hale, resident maintenance engineer for the State Roads Commission, who explained that the SRC could take action to block up the sewer to prevent contents from running over the highway. Such action would be taken only as a last resort, Hale said.

William C. Wise Remains Critical

A 47-year-old hunter remained in critical condition last last night at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, where he was admitted with a gunshot wound in the back.

Law enforcement officers said William C. Wise, Pasadena, was shot Tuesday afternoon while hunting on Piney Mountain near Sang Run. He underwent surgery Tuesday night but the bullet was not removed. Possible paralysis is feared.

Wise was hunting with a son-in-law when a bullet fired by Robert Sisler, 17, Accident, richocheted from a rock and hit him.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke noted that there has never been a fatal hunting accident in Maryland during deer season. However, there have been some fatal shootings during upland game seasons.

Legion Groups Here Raise Christmas Fund

Three organizations, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Ladies Auxiliary, and Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, are contributing $225 toward a Christmas basket fund, according to Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the joint board.

Conlon explained that the money will be given to Miss Jeannette Bonig, of Associated Charities, who will distribute it to needy veteran families. Miss Bonig will be assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary.

Cite Health Hazards

Shown above are three of the speakers at a meeting of Narrows Park residents last night at LaVale Fire Hall to discuss health hazards in connection with breaks in an old sewer line serving the section. The group named a committee to arrange for repairs. Speakers are (left to right) George B. Hale, resident maintenance engineer for the State Roads Commission; J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian; and Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, chairman of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission.

John Humbird Students Offer "Newsboy" Minstrel

Pupils of the John Humbird School will present a minstrel at 7:30 tomorrow evening in the school auditorium, Miss Grace Filer, principal said last evening.

Entitled, "Newsboys and Bootblack Minstrel Show," Terry Weltman will be the interlocutor and students of each room will do specialty numbers, under direction of the faculty.

End men are Franklin Shambaugh as Horatio; James Trehern, Pinkie Hampton; Kenneth McKee, Smokie Joe; Leo Williams, Rastus Lee; William Carlile, Rufus White; Roger Stonaugle, Mose Johnson; Samuel Friend, Ray Beeskax; and Carl Harbaugh, Cashin Karry.

Miss Margaret Reed's class will present "The Teddy Bear Song," accompanied with dances; Mrs. Ruth Wolford's, "Cat Song; Miss Gladys Judy's will do "Way Down Yonder in the Cotton Patch;" Mrs. Elizabeth Ranck's, "All I Want for Christmas Is My Two Front Teeth;" Miss Grace England's, "Walking in the Park One Day;" Miss Frances Crist's, "California Here I Come;" Mrs. Agnes Davis's, "Shoe Shine Number;" Mrs. Florence Kester's, "Alice Blue Gown;" and Miss Filer's, "Hokie Pokie Dance."

The entire show is under the direction of Aden Lewis, Music supervisor of the school.

Jaycee Head Greeted

Area Trio Is Held In Probe Of Mine Theft

Questioning To Continue Today

Three area men are being held for investigation in connection with the larceny of wire from the Hampshire Mine of the Campbell Coal Company near Barton, according to Deputy Sheriff Edgar M. Lewis.

Authorities identified the trio as Frank D'Agostino, Keyser, W. Va.; John Sugars, McCoole; and Harry Whetzel, Great Cacapon, W. Va.

The men have admitted nothing as yet, according to Lewis, who said they also will be questioned as to whether they know anything about fires, explosions and other recent vandalism in the mining section.

The sheriff's office said the trio probably will be questioned today in the state's attorney's office.

Sugars is being held in City Jail and D'Agostino and Whetzel are in the County Jail, authorities said.

Latest incident was the burning of a small brakehouse at the Hampshire Mine Tuesday afternoon.

Destruction and theft of mine property in the Georges Creek region since mid-summer has resulted in loss and damages amounting to between $40,000 and $50,000, it was estimated yesterday.

All of the incidents, which included burning and blasting of mine buildings, the destruction of expensive power shovels and the theft of high-priced equipment, have been thoroughly investigated by the sheriff's office, it is reported.

Covers Three Counties

Sheriff Edward R. Muir pointed out that the vandalism and destruction is not only confined to Allegany County, but has occurred in Garrett County and in nearby West Virginia.

He theorized that roving gangs could be responsible.

Sheriff Muir was emphatic in stating that he does not believe union workers guilty of the acts, as he pointed out some union-operated mines have been stricken.

"The explosions and fires are definitely linked up," the sheriff declared.

Last summer the chain of events began. Arthur P. Hoffa, Barton mine owner, reported a conveyor belt of the Hoffa Mine at Pekin was damaged by a dynamite blast.

On August 27, explosions at the Hoffa mine destroyed a wheel house. A fan house near by was also leveled.

Hoffa also said that several weeks later the timbers of the conveyor were soaked with oil and ignited with fuses. However, a neighbor saw the fire and the Barton Hose Company No. 1 arrived in time to prevent serious damage.

Another mine owner who has suffered greatly is George D. Campbell, of Lonaconing, who operates the Campbell Coal Company.

Three times this year wire has been boldly taken from the trolley poles at his Hampshire Mine near Barton. Last week the looters took 2,000 feet.

On October 23 at the Hampshire Mine a fan house was destroyed by fire said to be of incendiary origin. A week later another fan house at the diggings was leveled in the same manner.

In addition to these two, there have been a series of minor fires at the mine, which is union-operated.

Equipment Wrecked

At a strip mine just across the county line in Garrett County, two miles north of Barton, a power shovel and a bulldozer were wrecked by explosives.

The damage, estimated at between $10,000 and $12,000, occurred October 22. The concussion of the triple blast shook windows in Lonaconing five miles away. The equipment was owned by F. P. Gaither, of this city.

On November 3, a $12,000 power shovel at the Mineral Coal Company strip mine on Jackson Mountain at Moscow was demolished. Police said the explosion was set deliberately.

One of the mine owners, Hoffa, has been outspoken in his criticism of the lack of law enforcement in the county.

Campbell said he has no idea who has been making his diggings a target for vandalism, incendiarism, and thefts. He merely stated that: "Some one must be mad at us."

Flood Control Work Progresses

New Steam Plant To Enable Flood Work To Continue In Cold Weather

Winter weather conditions of the past few days have forced the contractors of the local flood-control project to winterize their plant, Thomas E. Dickson, project engineer, reports.

To do this, contractors George and Lynch, Inc., have erected a steam boiler with a tank capacity of 3000 gallons at their batching plant near the Baltimore and Ohio Rolling Mill on Gay Street in order to heat water and cement to the required temperatures for mixing and placing it during the cold season.

The plant is expected to begin operations today and it will enable the contractor to pour cement at a temperature around 70 degrees even when the weather is much colder.

Dickson explained that in order to produce strong concrete structures, the temperature of the cement must be between 50 degrees and 70 degrees when it is placed. Depending upon weather conditions, he said, the water temperatures should be between 60 degrees and 90 degrees and the forms in which the aggregate is poured should not be lower than 40 degrees in temperature.

Therefore, even the forms have to be pre-heated and all frost, ice and snow removed before the concrete is poured.

After it has been placed in the forms, the air in contact with the cement must be maintained at a temperature between 50 degrees and 70 degrees for a period of five days. From then until 14 days after pouring, the cement must be kept above 32 degrees.

Circulating electric heaters are used to heat the forms and to maintain the necessary temperatures of the cement until the 14-day period is up. Sometimes, Dickson said, it is necessary to protect the newly poured concrete for much longer period, depending upon the weather conditions.

If the arid conditions prevail, he explained, the aggregate must be kept moist by sprinkling it with water. In summer, the concrete must be kept covered with burlap and sprinkled with water, especially if the temperature of the air rises higher than 80 degrees, he said.

He completed his studies at the North American College, Rome, Italy and was ordained to the priesthood in 1932 in Rome.

Father Carney served at St. John the Evangelist Church, Baltimore, before being sent to Oakland.

Stanley Fretwell, city, faithful navigator, will preside at the business session.

Concluding the meeting a buffet lunch is to be served.

Housing Meeting Fails To Materialize

A scheduled meeting of the Cumberland Housing Authority failed to materialize yesterday due to lack of a quorum.

Two members, Rev. H. M. Richardson and Robert L. Stallings, were out of town and another member, Earle L. Bracey, was unable to attend because of a school board meeting. Bracey is principal of Carver High School.

Several residents of the Shades Lane area were on hand prepared to protest the proposed location of a housing project for colored families on McNamee's Hill.

The meeting would have been the regular December session. Date of the next meeting will be set by the chairman, William L. Wilson, Jr.

Barbers Union Names Officers

Roy C. Wilson was re-elected president of Local No. 314, Barbers Union, at a meeting Tuesday night in the Allegany Trades Council Hall.

Also re-elected were Graham Shafer, vice president; and Fred B. Driscoll, secretary-treasurer.

Other officers named were John L. McGeady, recorder; Julius C. Linaburg, guide; Lawrence Tummino, guardian; and Ray Nine and James Littlefield, finance committee.

The officers will be installed at a meeting Tuesday, January 2, at Trades Council Hall.

Hunting Equipment Stolen From Soldier

Two rifles and other hunting material valued at more than $200 were stolen Tuesday night from the automobile of Sgt. E. A. Shirley, stationed at the U. S. Army Recruiting Station, Martinsburg, W. Va.

Lt. James E. Van said the equipment was taken sometime after 5:40 p. m. Tuesday. The car was parked on Cumberland Street at the rear of Algonquin Hotel.

Action Taken For Repairs To Sewer Line

Narrows Park Group Names Committee

Action was taken last night at a meeting of Narrows Park residents for repairs to an old sewer line serving the section.

The meeting at LaVale Fire Hall was called by Dr. Winter R. Frantz, deputy health officer, due to health hazards caused by three breaks in the sewer.

The 42 Narrows Park residents attending named a three-man committee to arrange for repairs to the line. Cost will be assessed against property owners tapping into the line.

On the committee are William Weigand, H. B. Klosterman and John W. Gravelle.

They were requested by J. Byron Dowling, state sanitarian, to take action today to hire a plumber for the work.

The six-inch sewer line runs westward toward LaVale and empties into Braddock Run. It was built 51 years ago.

Dowling and Dr. William E. Moseley, Mt. Savage, chairman of the Allegany County Sanitary Commission stressed health hazards due to the open sewer condition along Route 40.

The line is owned jointly by the 64 property owners in Narrows Park who tap onto it.

Dowling stated that no public sewers in LaVale or Narrows Park meet standards of the State Department of Health. He pointed out that the Health Department has authority to issue court orders for the installation of septic tanks if the sewer line is not repaired.

The committee plan was carried out at the prior suggestion of Dr. Frantz, who was unable to attend.

Another speaker was George B. Hale, resident maintenance engineer for the State Roads Commission, who explained that the SRC could take action to block up the sewer to prevent contents from running over the highway. Such action would be taken only as a last resort, Hale said.

William C. Wise Remains Critical

A 47-year-old hunter remained in critical condition last last night at Garrett County Memorial Hospital, Oakland, where he was admitted with a gunshot wound in the back.

Law enforcement officers said William C. Wise, Pasadena, was shot Tuesday afternoon while hunting on Piney Mountain near Sang Run. He underwent surgery Tuesday night but the bullet was not removed. Possible paralysis is feared.

Wise was hunting with a son-in-law when a bullet fired by Robert Sisler, 17, Accident, richocheted from a rock and hit him.

Regional Game Warden Joseph A. Minke noted that there has never been a fatal hunting accident in Maryland during deer season. However, there have been some fatal shootings during upland game seasons.

Legion Groups Here Raise Christmas Fund

Three organizations, Fort Cumberland Post No. 13, American Legion, Ladies Auxiliary, and Voiture No. 164, Forty and Eight, are contributing $225 toward a Christmas basket fund, according to Thomas F. Conlon, chairman of the joint board.

Conlon explained that the money will be given to Miss Jeannette Bonig, of Associated Charities, who will distribute it to needy veteran families. Miss Bonig will be assisted by the Ladies Auxiliary.
